Focus on Opportunities

Opportunity plays an integral part in the course of a person's life. The many vistas open to us determine our ambitions and destinies. Education is one of the most important privileges available to all Americans. As an active body of this nation's educational system, Forest View High School must constantly survey, evaluate, and update its facilities in order to better serve the students and residents of the communities within the attendance area. Each year, changes are made in the curriculum so that a wider range of subjects is offered to meet the needs of an increasingly diffuse student body. Students are given more freedom, allowing them to demonstrate a mature acceptance of responsibility. The Forest View administration and faculty members challenge the students to take advantage of the many opportunities available to them. Therefore, we of the Talon staff have chosen to Focus on Opportunities.

"Skinny" Chris,

Best of luck to ya and

The Self-Directed Activity Program (SDAP) was expanded to include all junior and senior students who maintained passing grades. Most of the students met in the cafeteria or worked in the library or at the study carrels in the B-Building corridor. However, special departmental rooms, such as the mathematics laboratory and the social science research center, were available for general use. Students participating in this program learned to balance their time between studying and leisure, thus preparing for the increased freedom and responsibility of college life. SDAP privileges also gave the students the opportunity to work in a more relaxed atmosphere.

In the casual atmosphere of the cafeteria, seniors Carol Swearingen and Bob Bartels (below) enjoyed a quiet chat. This group of seniors (far left) talked about the latest events at their SDAP table. Jackie Davis (left) used her SDAP period to finish up her homework at a B-Building study carrel.

Janet Schultz (below) was able to graduate in three years through her use of independent study privileges. Senior Sue Price (near right) studied calculus on the accelerated level through the independent study program. Mrs. Bonnie Lyon (far right) aided Bob Ayres and Ray Kook in their preparation for the European History Advanced Placement examination.

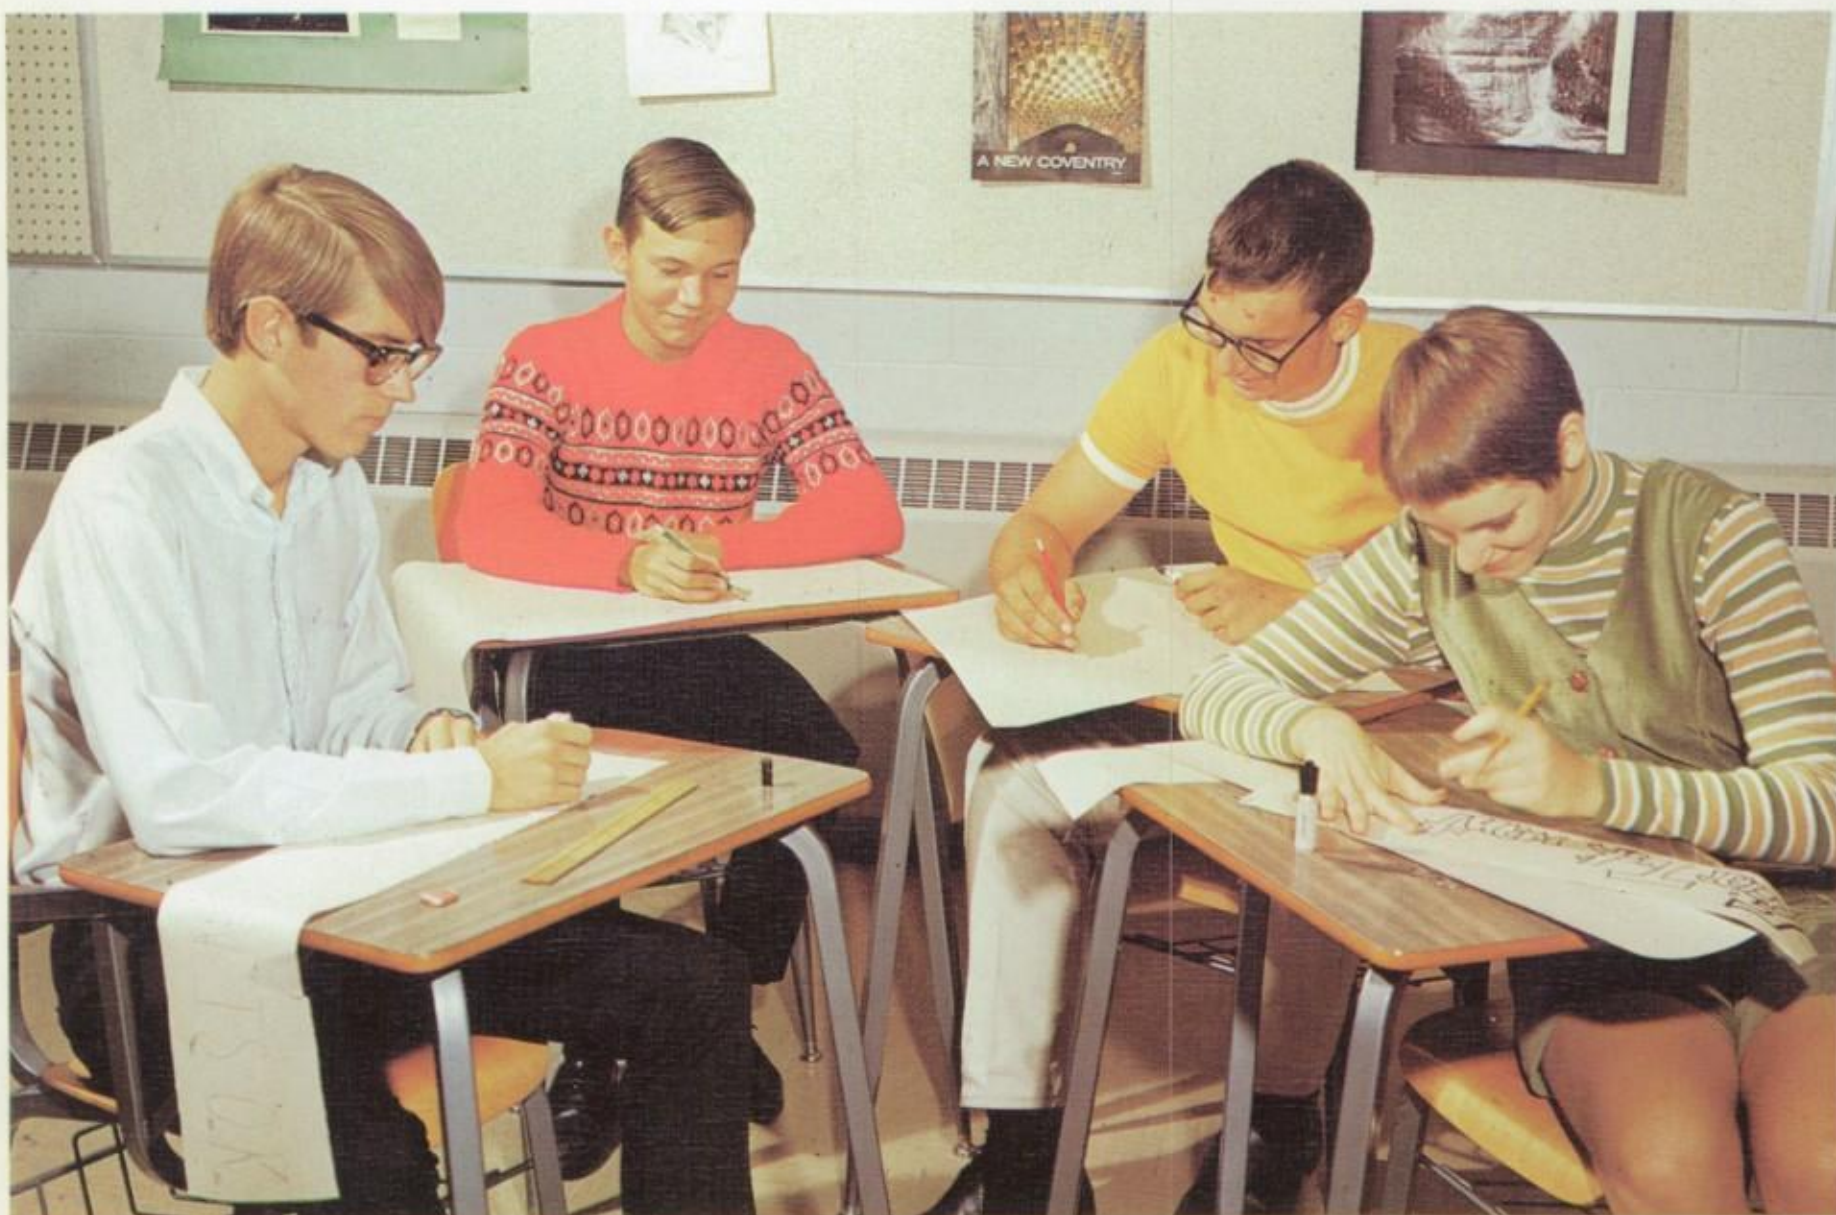

The Independent Study Program gave the Forest View students an opportunity to study in depth topics in virtually any academic discipline. The subject of an independent study project could be one already covered in the curriculum for students with schedule conflicts or one not offered but in which the student was especially interested. A grade with credit was available if the student and his sponsor desired. The projects were usually studied for periods of one to four quarters. Seniors could study a certain area for the entire school year and then in May take the Advanced Placement examination and, if successful, receive college credit. The Independent Study Program gave a student the chance to study on his own and work at his own pace while achieving goals that were largely self-imposed. This program was especially beneficial to the college-bound student.

Al Spiegler, Mark Barnes, Chuck Smith, and Mary Ann Hughes (below) of the English IV honors class wrote graffiti, rude sayings, which might have appeared in the Middle Ages. The fourth year accelerated math class (near right), taught by Mr. Umberger, studied calculus in order to prepare for the Advanced Placement exam in mathematics. Mr. Thibodeau's accelerated geometry students (far right) practiced graphing on the co-ordinate axes on the blackboard. English III Honors students (lower right) listened to a lecture about The Scarlet Letter.

For those students who displayed exceptional ability in certain academic areas, Forest View High School offered courses designed to challenge such talent. Honors English was available to junior and senior students, and accelerated mathematics classes were taught to all four levels. In English III Honors, students studied representative American literature in depth and surveyed the intellectual growth of our country while mastering several techniques of prose writing. Students enrolled in English IV Honors studied English literature for one semester and spent the second semester reading classic and modern European literature while developing standards of literary criticism. The accelerated mathematics classes began in the freshman year when Algebra I was taught. The class progressed until, by the fourth year, the students were prepared for college calculus which challenged the abilities of all class members. Every Forest View student had the opportunity to expand his knowledge and skills.

Forest View High School had four work programs enabling students to gain on-the-job experience at various training stations in the northwest suburban area. These juniors and seniors attended classes in the morning and worked outside of school in the afternoon and some evenings. The Business Education Department sponsored Distributive Education (DE) for students who usually worked as merchandising agents and Office Occupations (OO) for girls who performed clerical tasks. Diversified Occupations (DO) involved employment in beauty salons or automotive maintenance centers. Most Co-operative Work Training (CWT) students did retailing work. Upon graduation, these students usually secure full-time employment in the area for which they have prepared while enrolled in one of these programs.

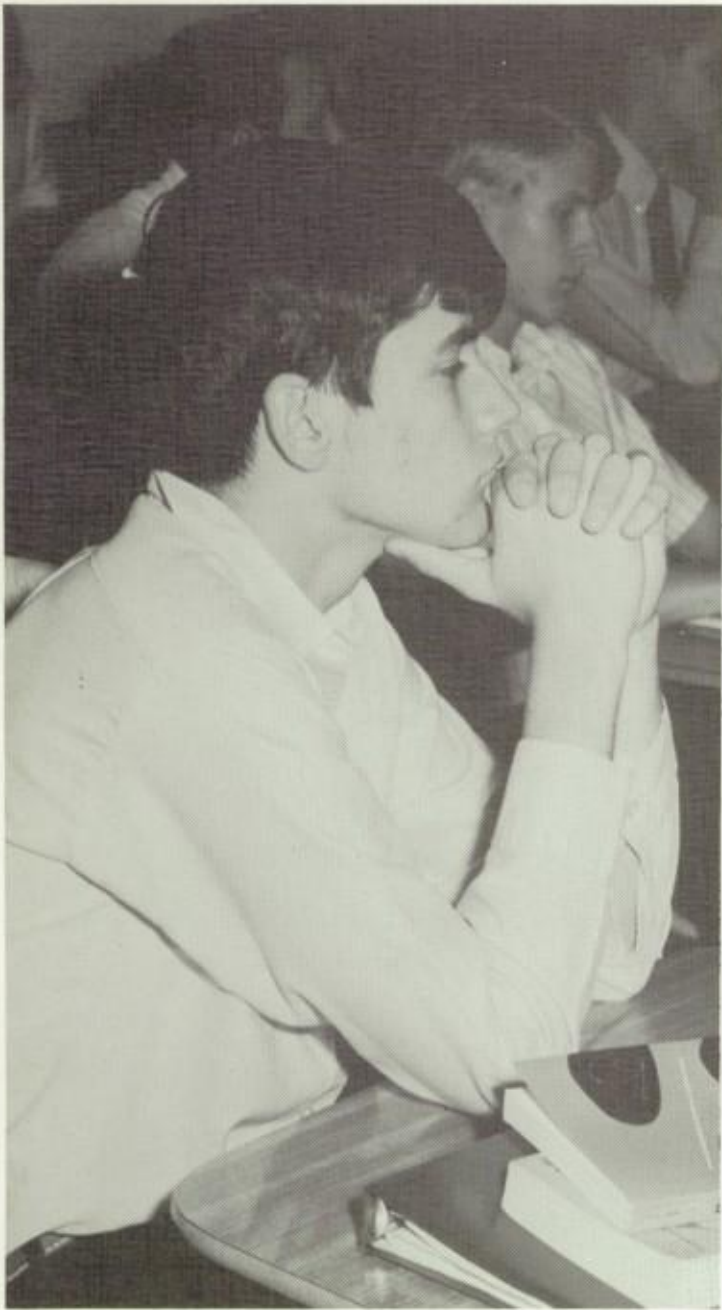

Senior Wally Mozal (near left) priced goods in the A & P supermarket in Palatine. Howell Tractor and Equipment Company employed Larry Brooks (lower left). Senior representative Chris Hill (above) listened to upcoming election procedures in order to aid the freshmen in the election of their class officers in September. Student Council president, Steve Barth (upper right) discussed problems with a special committee. As senior class president, Don Cappelen, watched (far right), these four girls sorted papers dealing with official business. Jim Remsen (lower right) was master of ceremonies at the Fall Festival Presentation Assembly.

The Student Council was the focal point and governing body of the student activity program at Forest View School. Its members planned all school-wide events, the foremost of which was the 1968 Fall Festival. Although the entire council voted on propositions, most of the work was done in committees. The Executive Board, made up of the Student Council officers, the chairmen of the standing committees, and one council member from each class, had jurisdiction over the organizations of our school. Council members also boosted school spirit and gained experience as leaders of their respective classes.

Students interested in leadership and education were selected in their sophomore year to participate in the junior and senior leader program. The junior leader experienced a year of training: all sports activities and teaching techniques were taught. As a senior leader, each helped the physical education teacher in such activities as taking attendance, leading exercises, and officiating games. The leaders program provided students with the opportunity to gain poise and self-confidence as well as experience.

Forest View students were busy in activities outside of school, also. Members of Young Life and Campus Life, non-denominational organizations developing Christianity in youth while stressing social activities, met on Tuesday evenings. Teen-Age Republicans (TARS) campaigned for national, state, and local candidates and held discussions on issues concerning high school students. The Palatine Township Youth Organization (PTYO) sponsored various dances for this area's youth. PTYO members sold bonds to residents in order to raise money to complete the purchase of some land in Palatine on which a teen center, to be called The Joint, will be built. Students in Journalism I and II wrote articles that were printed in the Highlights on Youth section of the Paddock newspapers. Involvement in these activities proved to be educational and often exciting for Forest View students.

Focus on Academics

School is ACADEMICS . . . an opportunity to increase one's knowledge . . . The curriculum of Forest View High School allows the motivated student to experience many aspects of education. To satisfy interests beyond those subjects offered in the regular class schedule, students can elect the independent study program. This year, the pass-fail system was available to qualified juniors and seniors, giving them the advantage of taking a fifth course without the pressure of earning a grade. Interesting field trips give students the opportunity to learn outside the classroom. Dividing certain areas of curriculum into remedial, slow, average, fast, and honors classes enables each student to learn at his highest capacity level. Special commendations went to the Art and English Departments as a result of the North-Central Association survey taken in the spring of 1968.

Creative Writing, Resource Room Among English Department's Additions

Opportunities abounded in the English Department for Forest View students this year. As a result of the North Central Association evaluation in the spring of 1968, a creative writing course was offered for the first time. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Stelk, the class experimented in many phases of writing. Some manuscripts were submitted to publishers so that students could receive professional criticism.

Being readied for more extensive use next year was the resource room adjacent to the library. All students were welcome to use the tables and study carrels for seminar or independent study purposes. Filmstrips and records were available, as were books from the library. The English Department hoped the room would be in full operation next year.

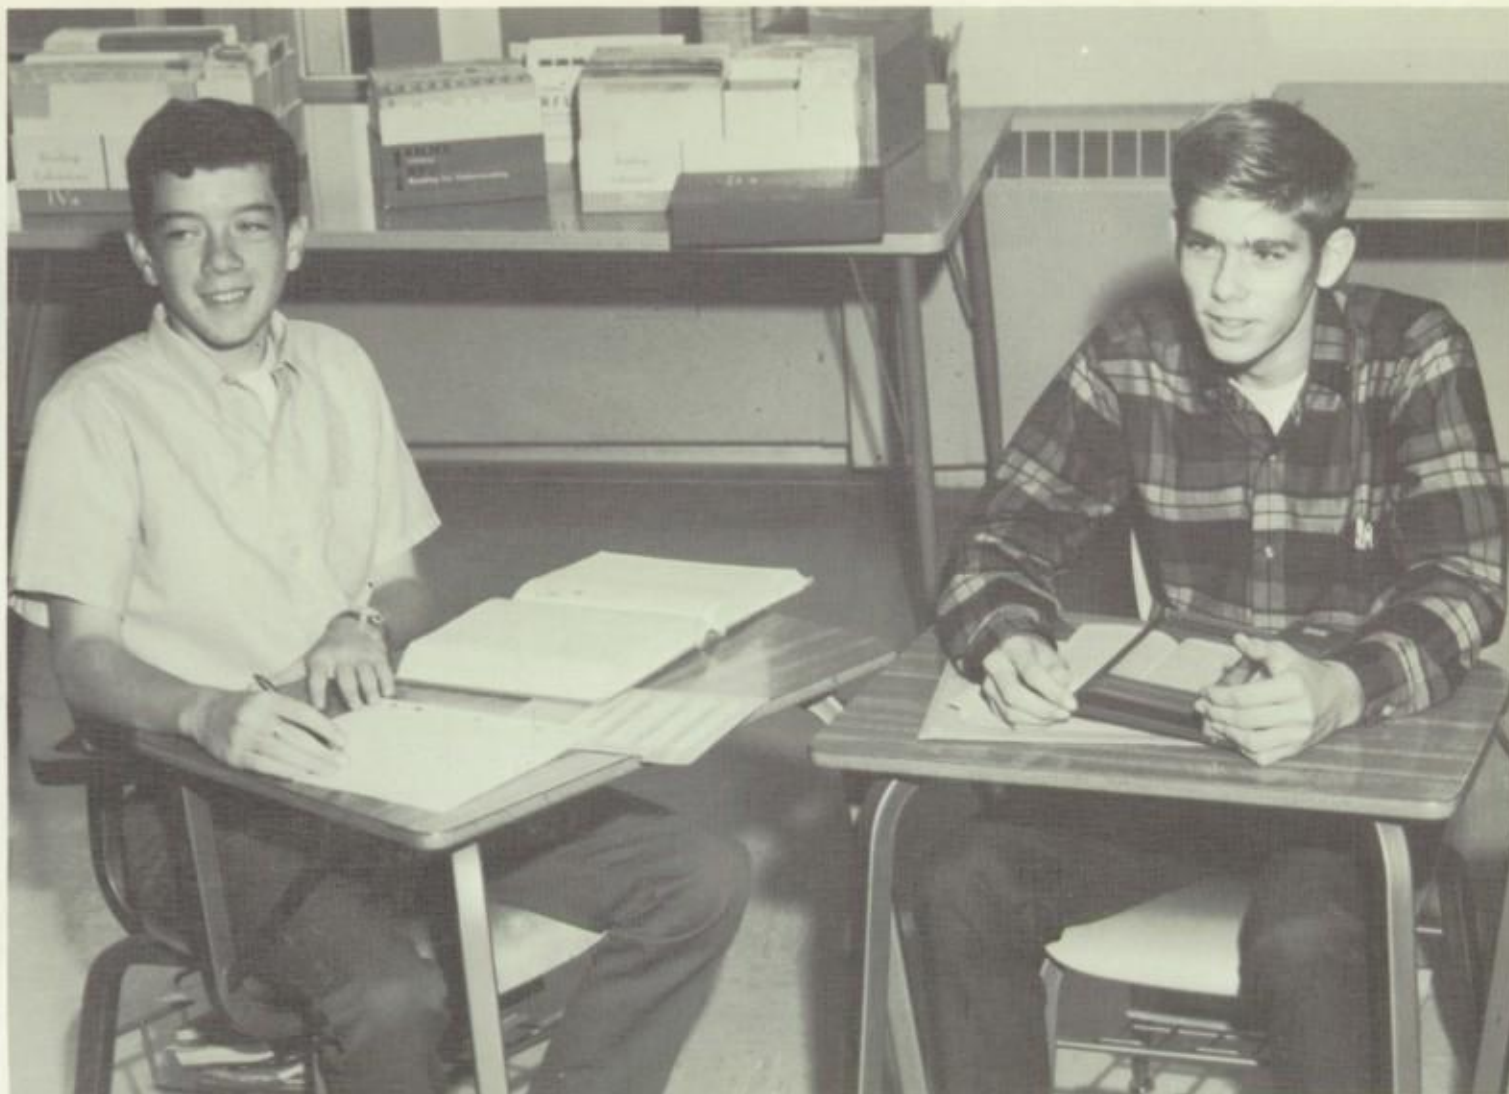

The use of ability grouping, from remedial to honors classes, helped the teachers in aiding students on their own level. Movies, records, filmstrips, and slides were used to supplement the teachers' lesson plans.

In remedial and slow classes, Scope magazines were used to a greater extent. New this year was an introduction of novels on tapes. New materials designed to improve reading speed and comprehension were added.

For those juniors and seniors who excelled in English, honors classes were available. Seniors were able to remove themselves from the regular class meetings part of the time in order to study units in tragedy and world literature on an independent basis. Students were encouraged to take the advanced placement tests for credit towards college.

Realizing that the stresses of modern life require greater facility in communication, the English Department initiated techniques to improve instruction and better prepare students to listen, speak, read, and write effectively.

Members of the creative writing class used the trial-and-error method to compose original works.

Through developmental reading classes, Mike Stapleton and Loren Scheman increased their reading comprehension and speed.

Social Science Curriculum Emphasized Independent Study and Current Events

Independent study and an expanded resource room increased opportunities for students in the Social Science Department this year. The learning center's facilities gave students, especially those involved in independent study, a chance to use books, tapes, and slides to increase learning efficiency. The research room was run like a library, with students volunteering free time to serve as attendants.

Four of the senior elective courses, Economics, Far Eastern History, Latin American History, and Current History, put less emphasis on textbooks. The fast United States History classes did not have a textbook. The students viewed several movies and read widely from several sources. This technique gave students broader view points than can be achieved through the usual single-text approach. Also, in United States History classes, because of current racial problems, a unit on Afro-American history was added. With 1968 being a political year, students were extremely interested in current events, and as a result, social science courses took on added significance.

Jackie Davis and Rich Thayer surveyed an economic chart pertaining to America's imports and exports.

While lecturing his Far Eastern History class, Mr. Berrier located Tokyo on a map written in Japanese.

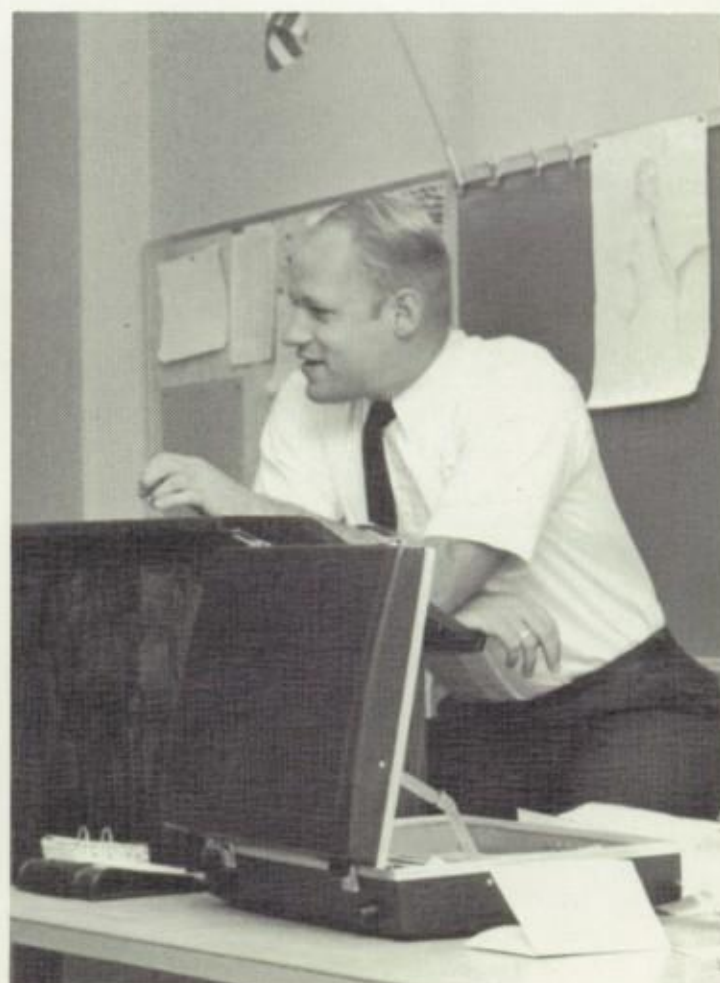

Georgia Steppers

Judy Green and Anita Mueller discussed human relationships in sociology.

Mr. Porter posed questions about the place of the mentally retarded in today's world.

Science Students Had the Opportunity to Discover

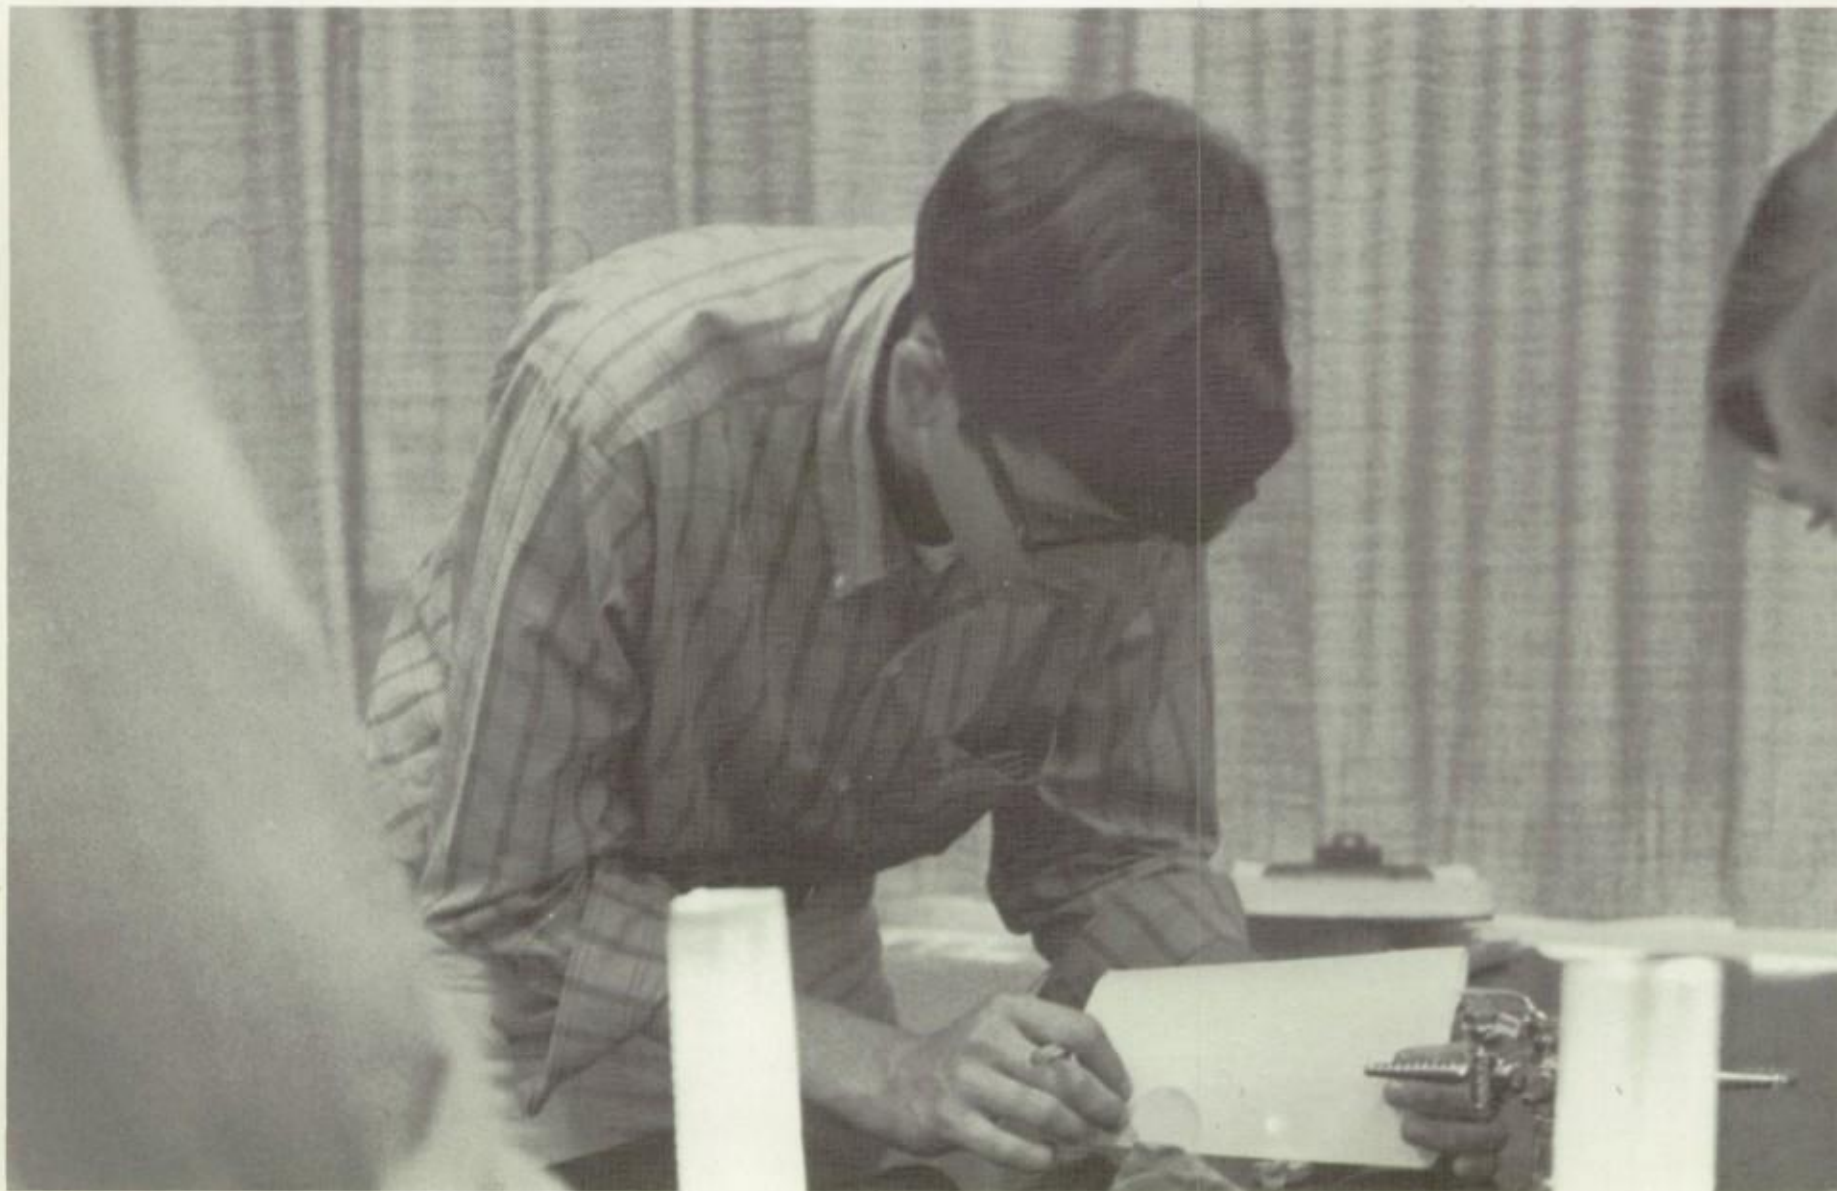

This year a new chemistry program was initiated in the Science Department. In this program, study was devoted more to discovery than to memorization. This learning approach gave the students a chance to discover for themselves how things happen, rather than just learning data and formulas. The earth science curriculum was improved and made more useful for college on a level comparable with physical science. Students were allowed to substitute a semester of earth science for either a semester of physical science-chemistry or physical science-physics. More biology classes were also formed to serve this year's larger freshmen class.

The accelerated calculus class examined discontinuous functions and graphed trigonometric equations.

Special Courses Available to Math Students

Randy Swanson drew a triangle with a compass and straightedge.

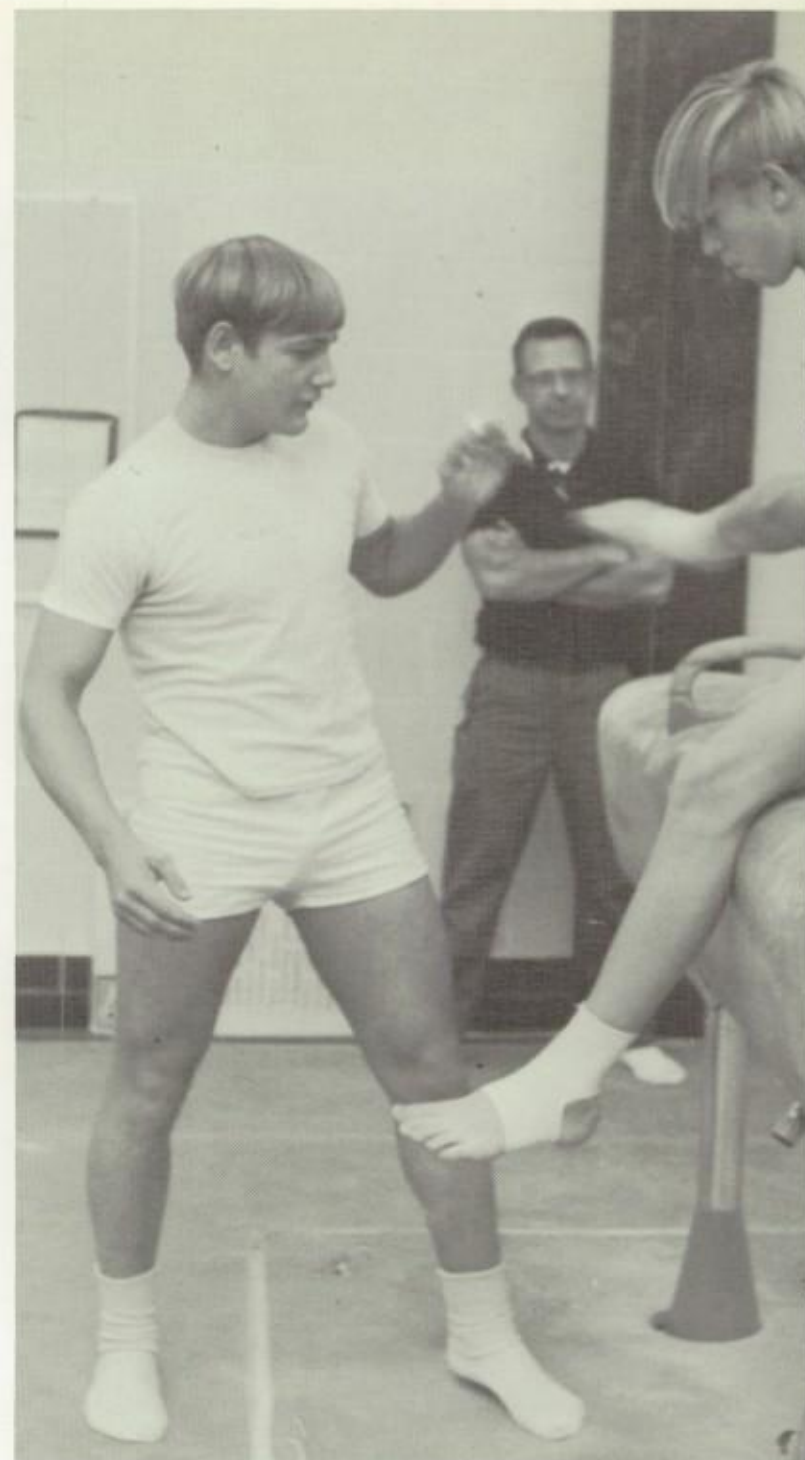

Besides the standard math courses found in neighboring high schools, Forest View's Mathematics Department offered unique facilities and special courses for all interested students. One such facility was the expanded Math Laboratory. This room was available for all students, although it was used mostly by students on independent study. In the lab, students used calculators and supplementary math-books. A special math topics class was offered to seniors in fast or accelerated math. They performed research in different areas of math, such as calculus and analytic geometry. The accelerated program is available to students for all four years. In the freshman year students do freshman algebra for the first three quarters. During fourth quarter students venture into junior algebra. The first three quarters of sophomore year are devoted to geometry, and in the last quarter students finish junior algebra. The junior year is composed of advanced math, and the senior year is spent in calculus. A computer and a probability course were also offered. Each consisted of one semester. Students U Faculty = Opportunity.

Bob Ayres and Dave Sorensen examined the results of a problem on the calculator.

New Equipment to Girls' P.E.;

Boys' P.E. Curriculum Stabilized

Down 2, 3, 4; up 2, 3, 4! That was the chant found in the Forest View Physical Education Department almost anytime of the day.

This year's girls' physical education curriculum was differentiated by class. Freshmen girls found themselves participating in track and field events, modern dance, social dance, volleyball, tumbling, trampoline, and field hockey. Sophomore girls had tennis, tumbling, square dancing, volleyball, softball, and field hockey. The junior girls experienced driver's education, tumbling, volleyball, conditioning, first aid, and archery. Senior girls could choose from basketball or field hockey. Also in their curriculum was badminton, square dancing, recreational games, volleyball, free exercise, softball, and golf.

New in the girls' P.E. department this year were a balance beam, uneven parallel bars, and a trampoline. Also, a freshmen special class was formed for those girls who excelled in physical education and were recommended by their junior high school teachers. The main objective behind this course was to gain future leadership in the department.

The boys' physical education department continued its philosophy for urban area boys again this year. Concerning themselves first with the physical state of the boys, next with discipline, and finally with skills, a curriculum was then set up by the faculty. Freshmen boys had cross country, speedball, wrestling, social dance, volleyball, gymnastics, weight training, and trampoline. The sophomore year consisted of cross country, soccer, gymnastics, square dancing, weight training, wrestling, basketball, track, and softball. Junior boys experienced driver's education, calisthenics, weight training, gymnastics, badminton, table tennis, wrestling, and tennis. During the senior year, boys concentrated mainly on "carry-over" activities, such as cross country, archery, volleyball, square dancing, wrestling, weight training, gymnastics, and softball.

There were not many changes in the boys' physical education department this year, because a more stabilized curriculum was desired. Trying something different, however, junior and senior athletes could use the weight room during their athletic study hall for either study or working out.

The boys' and girls' departments combined for the first time this year to form two coeducational adaptive classes. These classes were formed for those students who were limited physically and who needed individual work in a specific skill to enable them to go into a regular class.

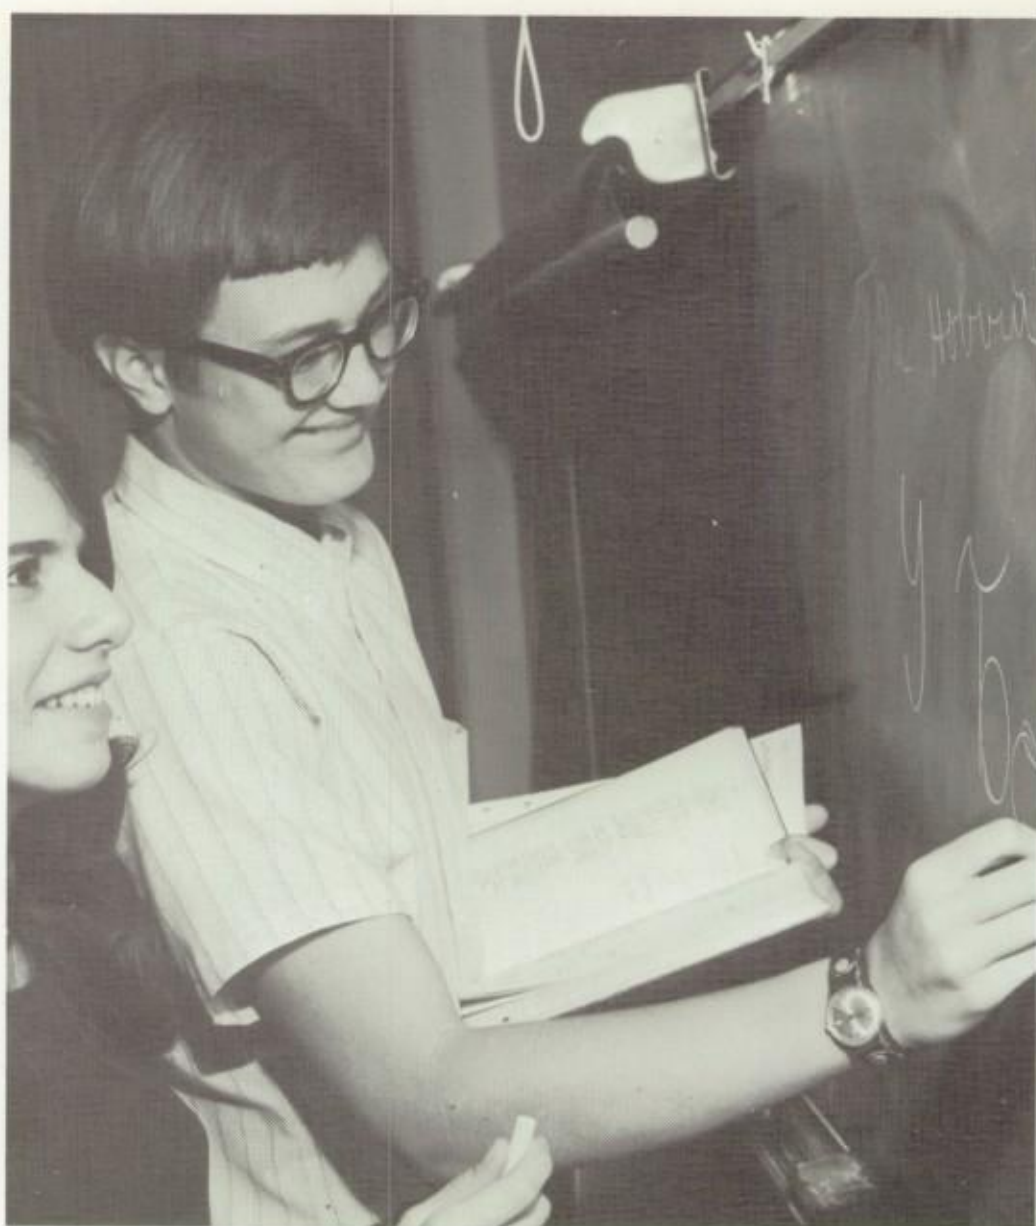

Leaders' classes were in operation again, and that down 2, 3, 4; up 2, 3, 4 lives on!

Freshmen girls ran the fifty-yard dash.

Tim Schleisman listened carefully to laboratory tapes which helped him in his comprehension.

Tom Maze and Sue Caprio put their knowledge of Russian to use through writing.

Mike Sullivan and Diane Miskovetz used a dialogue to increase their vocabulary.

Language Students Used New Methods to Learn About People, Customs

The Foreign Language Department headed by Mr. James Jacobs, offered students the opportunity to take five foreign languages. This year there was a total of twelve Spanish classes, eleven French classes, seven German classes, three Russian classes, and one Latin class. Students had the opportunity to take independent study in all of these languages.

Students had the chance not only to learn from regular classroom activities but could also benefit from listening to the laboratory tapes, which facilitated skill in oral communication.

Mr. Peter Cordt listened as German students repeated sentences from their books.

The new Audio-Lingual Materials, consisting of books and tapes, were also used in the classroom. The ALM program increased the students' ability to learn dialogue, vocabulary, sentence structure, and grammar.

Students also had the opportunity to enter contests. The tests involved reading and listening comprehension, as well as grammar. In the spring, the students went to Loyola University on Saturday to take the test. Local winners were awarded books.

By utilizing new materials and techniques, the Foreign Language Department staff members were able to increase every student's capacity to learn.

With new carpeting the library achieved its desired goal of silence.

Library Added Career Room, Carpeting; Music Groups Performed in Concert

Forest View's library, directed by Mrs. Donna Harris, offered students many opportunities for studying, relaxing, and browsing. Students could choose from over 19,000 books, 130 current magazines, 12 newspapers, and more than 600 record albums. Adjacent to the main library were four smaller rooms: a conference room; a listening room with record players and tape recorders; pre-college room for seniors; and a new college-career room containing brochures, pamphlets, film strips, and records pertaining to college career planning. Several other changes occurred during the course of the year. Carpeting was installed. A microfilm reader-printer was purchased, which enabled students to read and copy segments of microfilm from a collection worth over $5,000. Listening tables were installed in the main reading room so that more students could listen to records. A collection of art prints was started. Work was begun on a Humanities Resource Center, which, with the assistance of the English Department, will be completed next year. The library was a valuable aid to the students of Forest View.

This year, Forest View's instrumental and vocal groups, under the direction of Mr. Fred Elliot and Mr. Frederick Schimmelman, involved more students than ever before. The seventy-member marching band began the year by achieving an excellent rating in the Marching Band Contest at Wheeling High School. Both the marching and pep bands promoted school spirit at our home games and pep rallies. In addition, these instrumentalists performed in the annual Variety Show and spring musical. This year's objective for the Band Booster Club was to raise money to purchase blazers for the band members. Selling chocolate candy and tickets for a nearby theater, and participating in a neighborhood supermarket's benefit day aided the club in attaining its goal. To close the year, the Orchestra presented a March Winter Concert and a June Spring Concert in our Theater.

September marked the initiation of a new vocal group, the Town Criers. Twenty-one students, including three guitarists and a pianist, composed this group who sang and played show tunes, folk songs, and popular hits. The Town Criers made their debut in the Variety Show, after which they performed at the John Jay Elementary School. Another group that appeared in the Variety Show was the Vocales, a group of girls specially selected from the Vocal Department. With the addition of the Town Criers, the Vocal Department consisted of one-hundred and sixty members.

In March, the choral department presented a spring program. The Forest View Music Department of 1967-1968 received ten superior and fourteen excellent ratings in the Illinois State Solo and Ensemble Contest. During the spring of 1969, the band and vocal members had the opportunity once again to enter the contest and top last spring's performance.

Gifted Child Grant Enabled Artists to Specialize

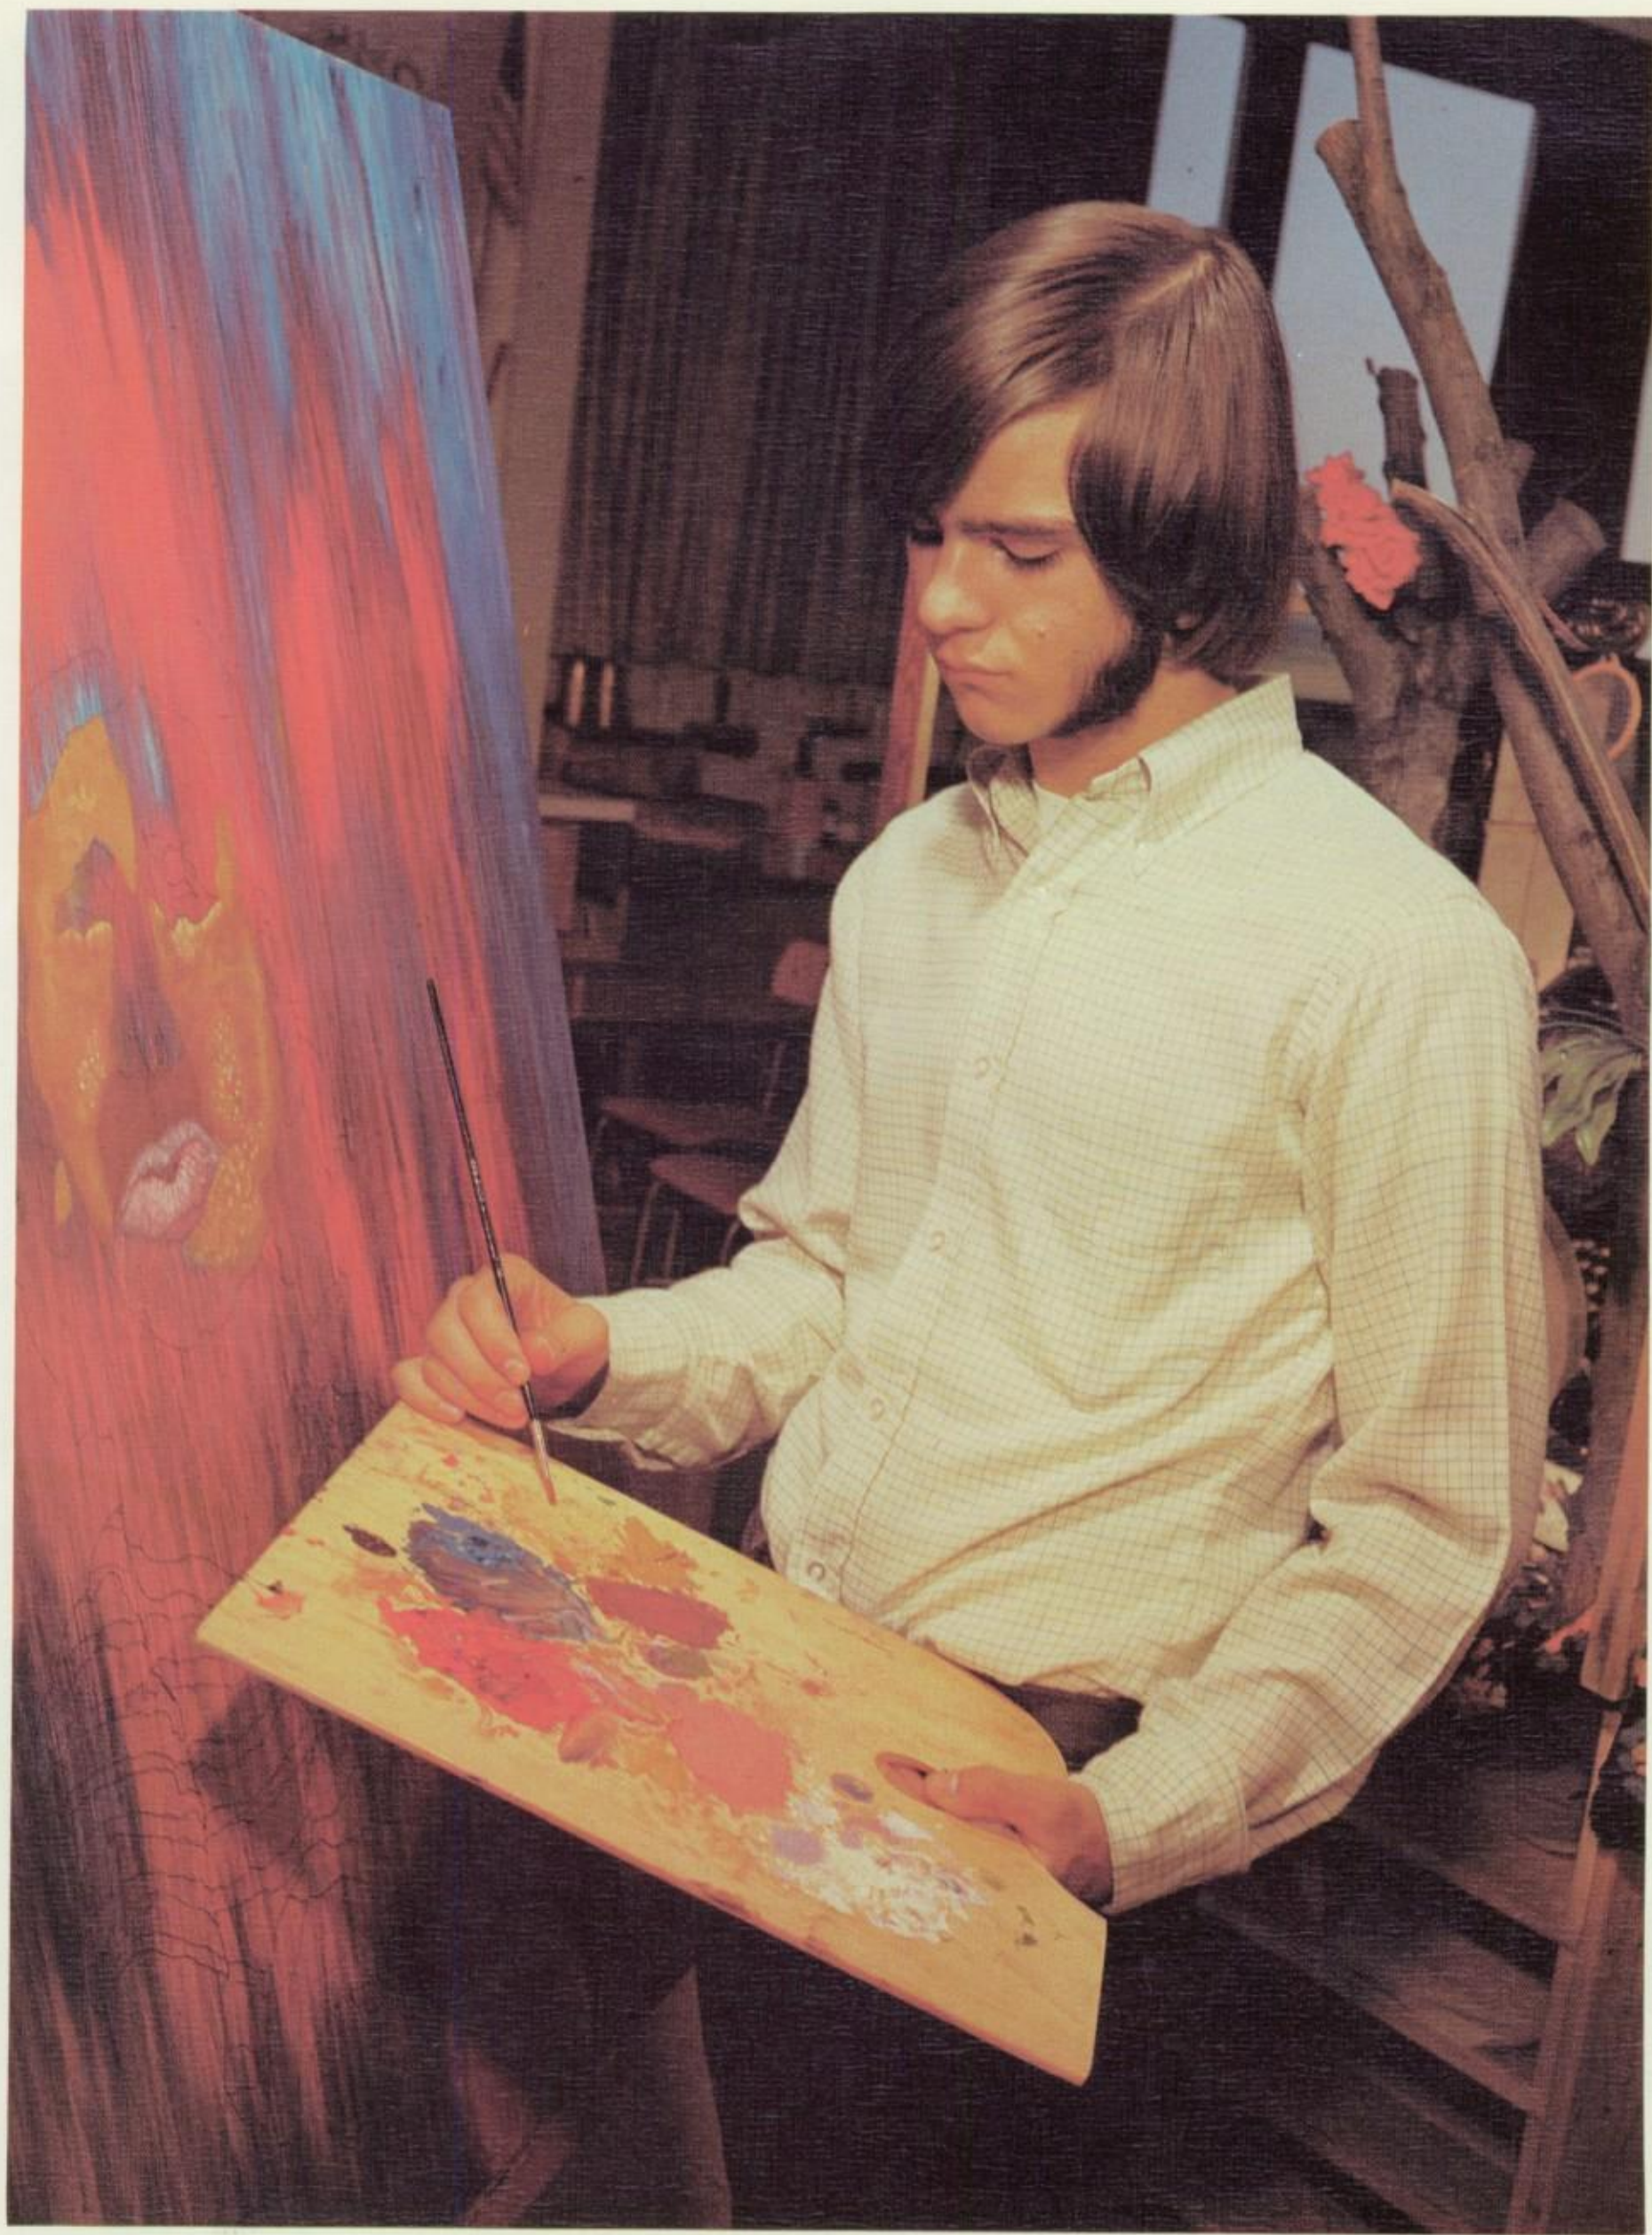

This year the Forest View Art Department was awarded two thousand dollars by the Gifted Child Organization. This grant provided the department with money for new supplies to enable thirteen selected students to work in special areas. These supplies included etching and sculpture materials, paper, and paint. Materials for jewelry were semi-precious stones, gold pellets, and a large quantity of sheet silver. Rubber molds to cast in resins were also purchased.

The department's class offerings consisted of Art I, II, III, and IV. Art I, the foundation for future art work, helped students develop their basic skills and abilities. The major emphasis in Art II was on further development of techniques and skills. Students worked on lettering, jewelry, sculpture, and graphics. Students in both Art III and IV studied expression and the development of concepts learned in Art I and Art II.

Vince Sebastian was painting this work as an independent study project.

Mr. Preo's seventh-period art class participated in an outdoor session to sketch automobiles.

Home Economic

Dept. Received

New Equipment

Forest View's Home Economics Department's curricular offerings consisted of courses in homemaking, child care, home decorating, foods, family meals, creative cookery, tailoring, and clothing. The Department's purpose was to prepare interested girls for the role of homemaker. Interested boys also participated in creative cookery and family meals. Throughout the year, students also had the opportunity to enter contests to compete for awards such as the Betty Crocker Cooking Award. The Home Economics Department received mixers, blenders, and other new equipment pertaining to the different subject areas. Department Head was Mrs. Dorothy Scharf. A new addition to the staff was Mrs. Shirley Bonomo, who taught family meals and home decorating.

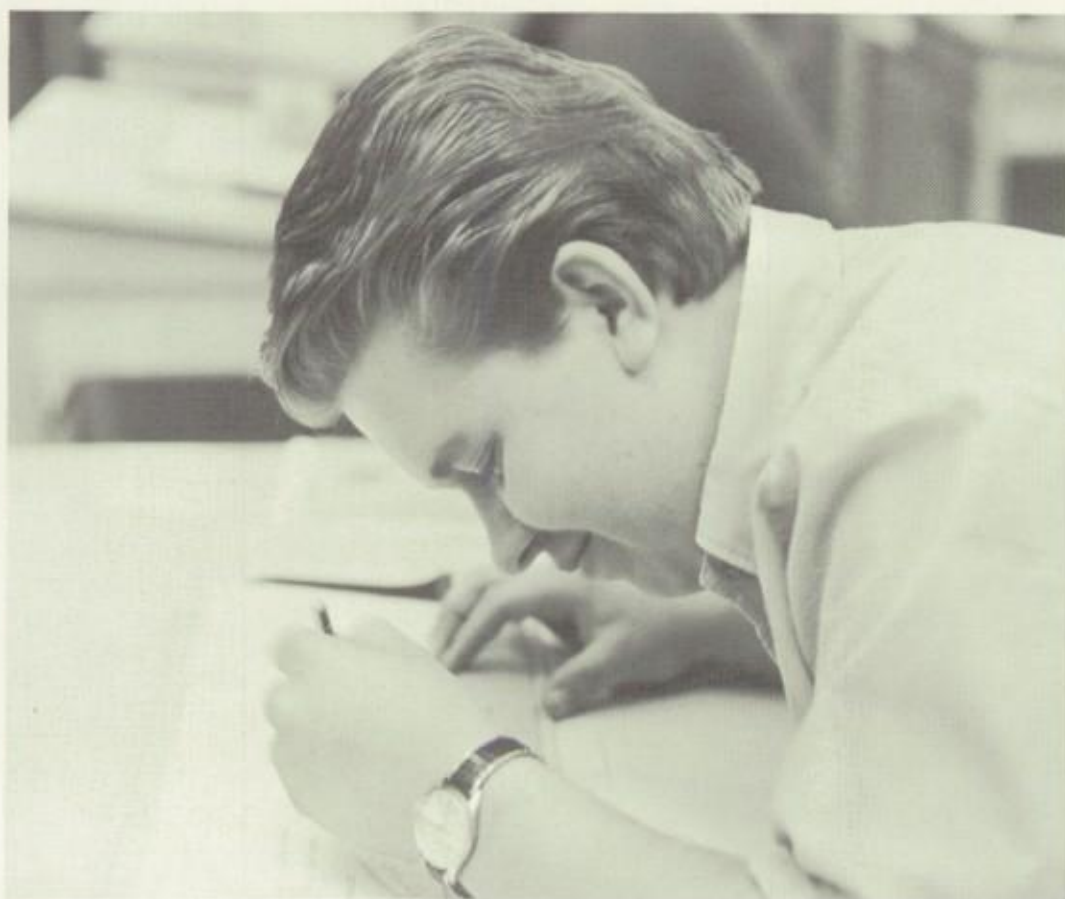

Judy Johnson finished a seam in clothing.

These girls checked on their cake.

Industrial Arts Prepared Boys for Skilled Jobs

In a society in which the unemployment rate of the unskilled workers has been steadily rising, a skill, on the other hand, can offer steady, profitable employment for the individual in the highly specialized complex of today's industrial community. Forest View's Industrial Arts Department sought to introduce students to the techniques and practices of industrial and manufacturing trades. Courses such as electronics and metals were offered. The electronics course consisted of studying basic wiring circuits, vacuum tubes, and transistors. Those who elected metals learned various machining and welding processes. On-the-job training was also offered. Students were able to obtain high school credits while gaining valuable experience. The Industrial Arts Department sought to acquaint its students with technical skills they would find helpful in later life.

David Breidinger designed a house.

Jerry McEvilly and Pat Coyne tested electrical equipment.

Forest View's Audio-Visual Department offered interested students the opportunity to learn how to operate various types of equipment. Under the direction of Mr. Donald Stansfield, students were taught how to operate movie projectors, tape recorders, overhead and slide projectors, copying machines, and lighting and photography equipment. They also learned how to make transparencies, slides, and tapes, as well as how to develop film. With the equipment available, they could copy almost any media, from slides to movie soundtracks.

Students worked in the department during their study halls and after school. Their work aided the teachers by enabling them to use different media in their classrooms. Their work also taught them many skills which will prove to be of future value.

Dennis Keys photographed school scenes.

Business Education Used Records and Tapes

Business Education courses prepare students to be gainfully employed. This year the Division Chairman was Mr. Donald Barrett, who came to Forest View High School from Prospect High School.

New techniques were brought into the classrooms of business students this year, including such devices as records for typing drills and shorthand dictation and tapes for typing coordination and rhythm. The CWT group was reorganized and placed under the direction of Mr. Glenn Matter.

A few Business Education classes enjoyed field trips. Mr. Graham Stewart's Business Law class planned a trip to a Chicago courthouse.

Employers of Business Education graduates of Forest View High School have commended the ability of the students to adapt themselves to the practical aspects of the business world.

Nancy Bejrowski took dictation in shorthand.

Typing students relaxed to music and were more at ease when being timed for speed.

Counselors Scheduled All Students

Miss Dorothy Zuzula arranged course cards on the course and period board.

Scheduling the 2,200 Forest View students was the major task of the Counseling Department. The counselors prepared each student for the future by seeing that he fulfilled graduation requirements by enrolling in courses most beneficial to him. They recommended the various work programs to non-college-bound students.

Other aspects of the counselors' jobs were serving as class sponsors, offering personal advice to students, and testing students for special aptitudes and vocational interests.

As an aid to those students interested in further schooling, Mrs. Virginia Kercheval acted as the college counselor. She informed all students of ACT and SAT testing dates and guided them in their selection of a college.

On March 10, 1969, the annual College Nite was held at Prospect High School. This evening gave juniors and their parents the opportunity to talk to more than three hundred college representatives.

The Counseling Department worked closely with the other departments in an advisory capacity. One result of this work was the beginning of an Afro-American History class in the Social Science Department.

Mrs. Virginia Kercheval (right) advised Tom Gladfelter and Leslie Traub on their college choices.

Special Services — Aids to Health,

Speech, Learning, and Social Problems

Forest View offered its students a variety of special services. The objective of our school nurse, Mrs. Ivah Hufnagel, was "to assist in meeting the health needs of the high school student." Her tasks included first-aid treatment, a dental health program, selective vision and hearing testing, and an emphasis on proper daily diet. Any individual health problems were privately discussed in conference with the students or their parents. A student with a speech defect had the opportunity to seek help from Mrs. Annette Binger, Forest View's speech therapist. Mrs. Binger, offered private therapy twice a week for half an hour to an hour for the students who had such problems as lisping, stuttering, or poor hearing. Her correction techniques included breath control, tongue placement for sounds, and tape recordings. Also, for the hard of hearing, Mrs. Binger taught lip reading. Mr. Allen Askew was our school psychologist. His job consisted of giving tests and talking with students to determine what caused problems that seriously affected performance in school. Our school's social worker was Mrs. Ann Mazurek. Through individual conferences, Mrs. Mazurek helped students to adjust to problems that they had with their families or teachers. Miss Diane Suckow was Forest View's teacher for the perceptually handicapped. Miss Suckow taught a specialized course to fit the needs of those students whose learning difficulties stemmed from emotional or organic problems.

Each student at Forest View who had a personal or physical problem had an opportunity to overcome his problem through the various specialized services.

Mrs. Binger showed Heidi Streeky tongue placement for difficult words.

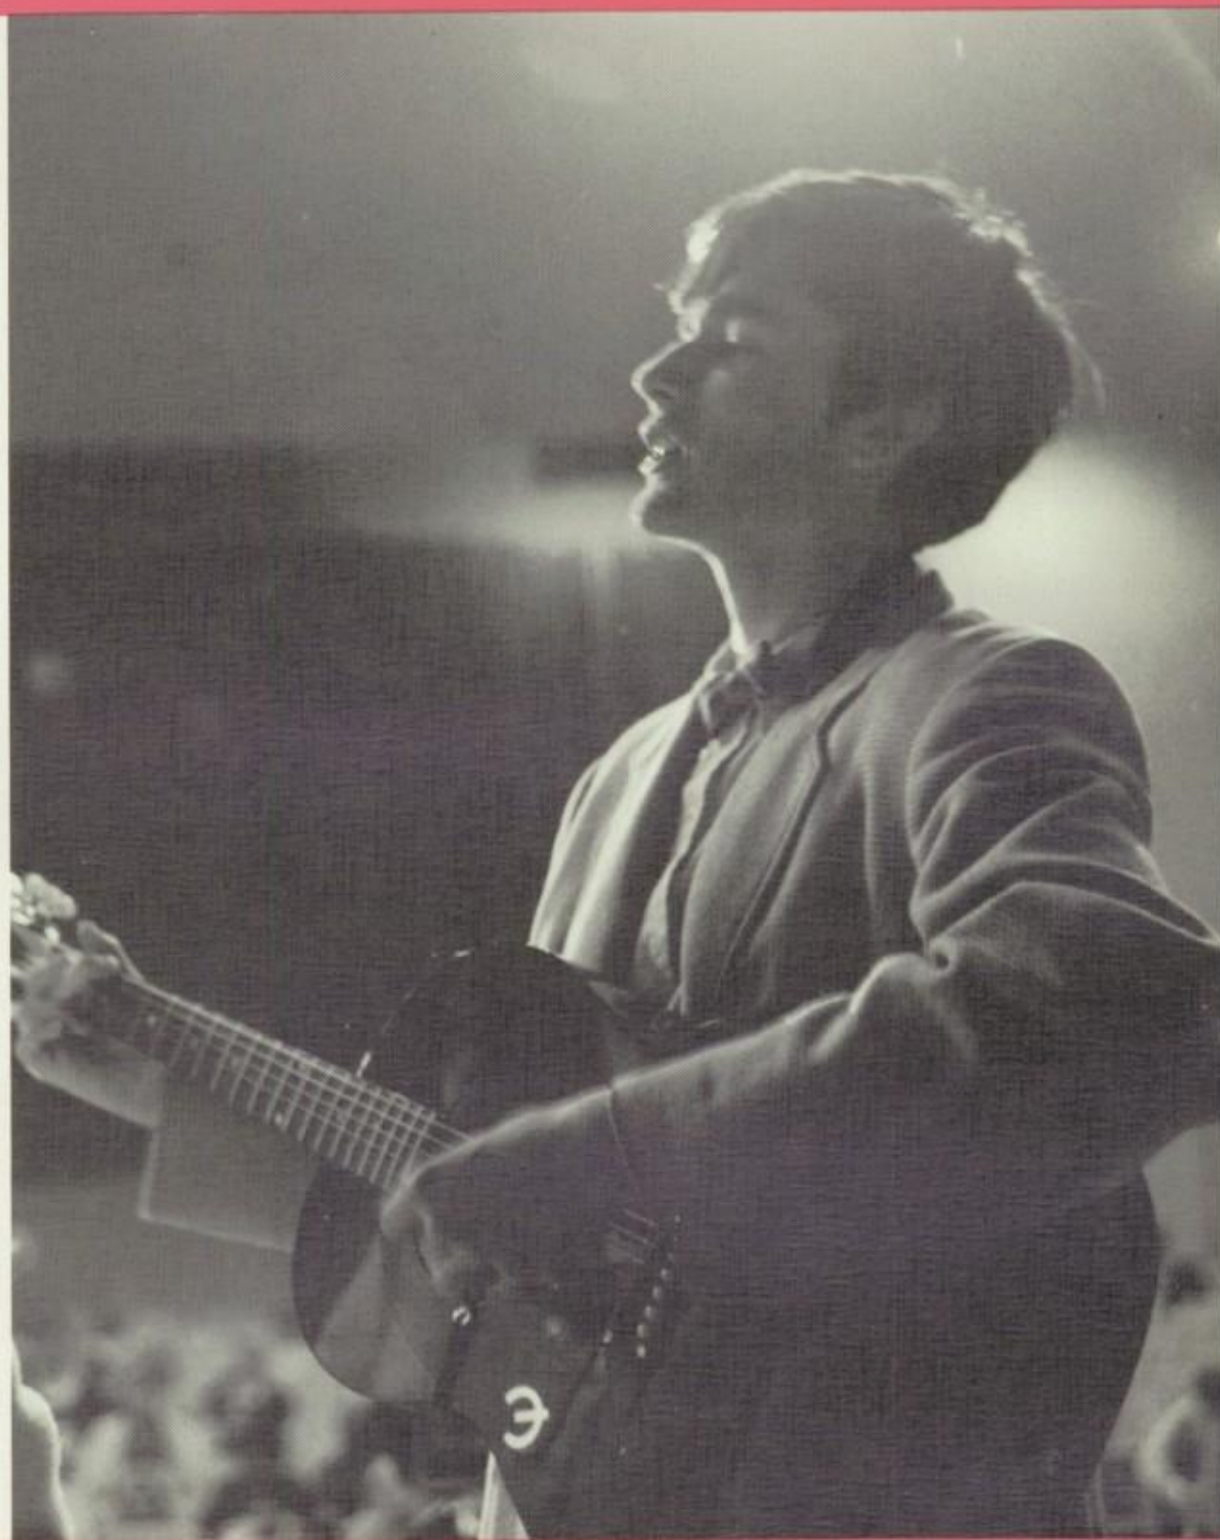

Focus on Activities

School is ACTIVITIES . . . the opportunity to be creative . . . Activities are an integral part of student life. Through activities, students can learn how to plan, organize, and develop creative ideas. Student Council, our school's governmental body, sponsors many events throughout the school year. In organizing these events, the council tries to involve as many students as possible. Each class also sponsors social and money-making gatherings which include dances, fun nights, and concessions and coat checks during athletic events. Drama activities gave Falcons the opportunity to be creative through acting and play interpretation. Members of the Fine Arts Workshop learned what is involved in drama production by working on lighting, make-up, costume, prop, and stage crews.

How to Succeed...Ridiculed Romance, Secretaries, Executives, Big Business

On May 9, 10, and 11, the Forest View Drama and Music Departments presented the award-winning musical How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying. The story centered around young J. Pierpont Finch, an ambitious window washer who rose to the top of the World Wide Wicket Company with the sole help of a book whose title provides the name of the musical. The president of the corporation, J. B. Bigley, was taken in by Finch's pose as a true company man. Bud Frump, Bigley's nephew, was not fooled, however, and tried his hardest to foil Finch's schemes. Finch found that there were other pitfalls on the road to success, such as the president's sexy secretary-girlfriend, Hedy; and Finch's own, often-neglected love, Rosemary. In the end, though, Finch succeeded and everyone was happy — everyone, that is, except Frump, who had been demoted to the menial position of window washer.

The coordinating director was Mr. Harold Petersen, who was aided by Mr. Fred Elliot (band), Mr. Robert Stelk (sets and crew), Mr. Wilde (technical aspects), and Carole Schwake and June Dunaway (dance).

Womper (Pat Coyne), chairman of the board, congratulated Finch on his successful rise to executive.

From his view on the ledge, Finch (Steve Firszt) saw the World Wide Wicket Company in operation.

Finch moved from window washer to executive.

Orchesis Created Terpsichorean Splendor

Terpsichorean Splendor was the unique phrase used by Forest View's Orchesis to advertise for their 1968 Spring Dance Concert. The expression was derived from the name of the Greek muse of dancing and choral song, Terpsichore. The concert, presented March 29 and 30 in the theater, was entitled "Avant-Garde Eurythmics" and featured contrasts between classical and modern ballet, a suite of dances to religious readings, and a series of dances using such props as flags, talbes, and incense. Some dances employed a scrim, a type of netting which produces the supernatural effect of blurred features and slow movements, or strobe, a type of lighting which creates a jerky, silent-movie effect. Mrs. Amy Teufert, Orchesis sponsor, taught the thirty-five member dance group these and other techniques in their daily seventh-period class. These unusual effects and various dance moods differentiated the 1968 Dance Concert from all those which preceded it.

Orchesis performed Zygastrianism.

Student Council-Sponsored Mixer Kicked Off Social Season

The dance floor vibrated as students from all classes gyrated to the beat of the Commodore Blues. Forest View initiated its 1968-69 social season with a gym full of action on September 6 with the Kick-Off Dance. The event, sponsored by Student Council, had a sentimental effect on the Class of '69, for its members gathered into an "apple-pie circle" and then proceeded to chant and sing of their last year at Forest View. Concessions were sold in a somewhat quieter place, as the girls' modern dance room serviced thirsty and hungry students throughout the evening.

Seniors gathered to relax while waiting for the Commodore Blues to return.

Couples Experienced a "Carousel of Dreams"

Mary Seery, Dodie Virta, and Barb McFall sorted cookies for the snack table.

Falcons experienced a "Carousel of Dreams" on May 24, 1968, in the O'Hare Inn Ballroom, when the junior class presented the sixth annual prom.

Chairman Mary Seery had carefully worked on plans many months in advance. Under her direction junior class members prepared for the formal dance by planning bids, making decorations, writing publicity, preparing refreshments, contracting a band, ordering tickets, and printing invitations. The pink and white carousel, created by Arnold Klehm, revolved slowly on its stand and set the mood for the coronation.

Couples danced to the music of Robert Smith and his orchestra, and snacked on cookies and punch. Queen Sis Smalenberger and her escort, Earl Thomas, reigned over the evening's festivities.

These couples (foreground) relaxed at their table as others danced.

Junior and senior pairs danced to the music of Robert Small and his orchestra and visited the snack tables for cookies and punch.

V-Show Highlighted Progress and Change

Falcons danced to "Wade in the Water."

Long gone are the ways of yesterday. Routine...a way of life little known by today's youth. Progress and change are what happened to this year's variety show, "The Times They Are a Changin'." Student director Dick Meade and faculty advisors Mr. Charles Wilde, Mr. Robert Stelk, and Miss Judee Fine organized the over-all program, which involved more than three hundred students.

A wide range of Falcon talent, including singers, dancers, actors, and actresses, musicians, and magicians, was exhibited. The performers presented blackouts (short skits with snappy punchlines), take-offs on familiar commercials, and symbolic skits about the "changin' times." The unusual light and sound techniques presented in the show added much color and excitement.

As the action progressed, the time turned to the end of the world, and the fast-moving kaleidoscope concluded on a suggestive note with the song, "If We Only Have Love."

The Lolly Pop Kids, Robin Mells, Sally Stevens, and Laurie Alm, were an amusing V-show act.

"Classical Gas," a dance number, used flashing lights and slides to effect a psychedelic sensation.

The student production began with the song "Marathon," which involved the entire chorus.

Fall Festival — Color, Tradition, and Excitement

Tearful Cathy received the congratulations of her court.

October 7, 1968, marked the start of an activity-packed Fall Festival week. The four classes provided decorated hallways to build up the Falcon spirit for the big football game against Elk Grove on Saturday. Monday and Tuesday were devoted to an all-school scavenger hunt sponsored by the Student Council. Wednesday featured an assembly for the recognition of the coaches and the presentation of the five queen candidates. A pep rally before school and a get-together for the transfer students was held after school on Thursday. At the coronation assembly, Cathy Sundblad, escorted by John Caltagirone, was crowned 1968 Fall Festival Queen. Queen Cathy's reign began Friday night at the pep rally. The spirited crowd was treated to a display of fireworks, pep talks, and cheering. The rally was followed by an all-school mixer featuring The Shades of Blue with the added entertainment of a psychedelic light show. Saturday's activities began bright and early with a senior girls' brunch and a car-decorating contest. Between the JV and varsity games, the winning car was displayed to the spectators. Amid Fall Festival balloons and the cheering fans, the queen and court were driven around the field and presented with plaques from the football team. The Letterman Club sponsored Johnny Marlowe's Band for the dance, "Harvest Moon," to end Fall Festival 1968.

Ferdie arrived in a black and gold surrey.

Casino Set the Scene for Roaring 20's Nite

"Bonnies, bring your Clydes" was the slogan for this year's Fun Nite, sponsored by the senior class. On November 9, costumed people came to enjoy the "Roaring 20's Nite." Upon entering the casino, each student was given $1,000 in spending money. With this small fortune in play money, he could gamble on the roulette wheels or try his luck at the dice tables. Some students tried the other booths and decided to get married, have their real fortune told, go to jail, get divorced, or even play a game of volleyball in the boys' gym. Other students could be found in the Little Theater viewing old-time flicks of Spanky and Our Gang or Tom Mix. At 8:30 everyone was gathered into the cafeteria for the Charleston contest. Music was provided by members of Forest View's own band. Winners of the contest were Debbie Lata and Brian Gillespie. A raid surprised the crowd at 9:00 when the almost-real policemen moved everyone into the boys' gym for more activities including a contest, an auction, and a treasure hunt. The costume contest was won by seniors Maryann Goodrich and Tom Schoenfeld. During the slave auction, upperclassmen were going for as much as $500,000. The auction was followed by a class competition treasure hunt which the seniors won.

This eventful, roaring night was topped off with a mixer in the girls' gym featuring The Bunch.

These Forest View students donned Roaring 20's costumes to play in Fun Nite's band.

Seniors showed their Roaring 20's spirit.

Mrs. Banks, after a five-flight climb, was greeted by Corie and Paul.

Neil Simon's Barefoot in the Park Told of Newlyweds' Trials and Tribulations

On November 22-24, 1968, Forest View's Drama Department presented Neil Simon's Barefoot in the Park. This comedy is the kind of play which appeals to everyone because it humorously depicts ordinary people and the conflicts which they encounter.

The play is centered around two newlyweds, Paul and Corie Bratter, whose marriage is a six-day wonder. Romantically-inclined Corie sets up a blind date for her widowed mother with Victor Velasco, the eccentric old man who lives in the attic above the Bratters. Paul is infuriated with Corie's plan, and the evening brings a hopeless crisis.

Because of the abundance of talent, a double cast was chosen. Cast members were Steve Firszt and Bill Manning as Paul Bratter; Beckie Hysell and Sue Lee as Corie Bratter; Craig Whitehead as Victor Velasco; Laurie Hysell and Jerie Ladue as Mrs. Banks, Corie's mother; Gary Douglas and Steve Schmidt as the telephone repairman; and Bill Nolan as the delivery man. Barefoot in the Park was directed by Mr. Charles Wilde. The technical director was Mr. Robert Stelk, and Miss Judee Fine was in charge of make-up and tickets.

"Don't you want to go up to Victor's place for coffee?" asked Corie.

"What do you mean, you want a divorce?" screamed Paul. "We're only married two weeks!"

The telephone repairman found an unhappy Paul when he came to fix the phone.

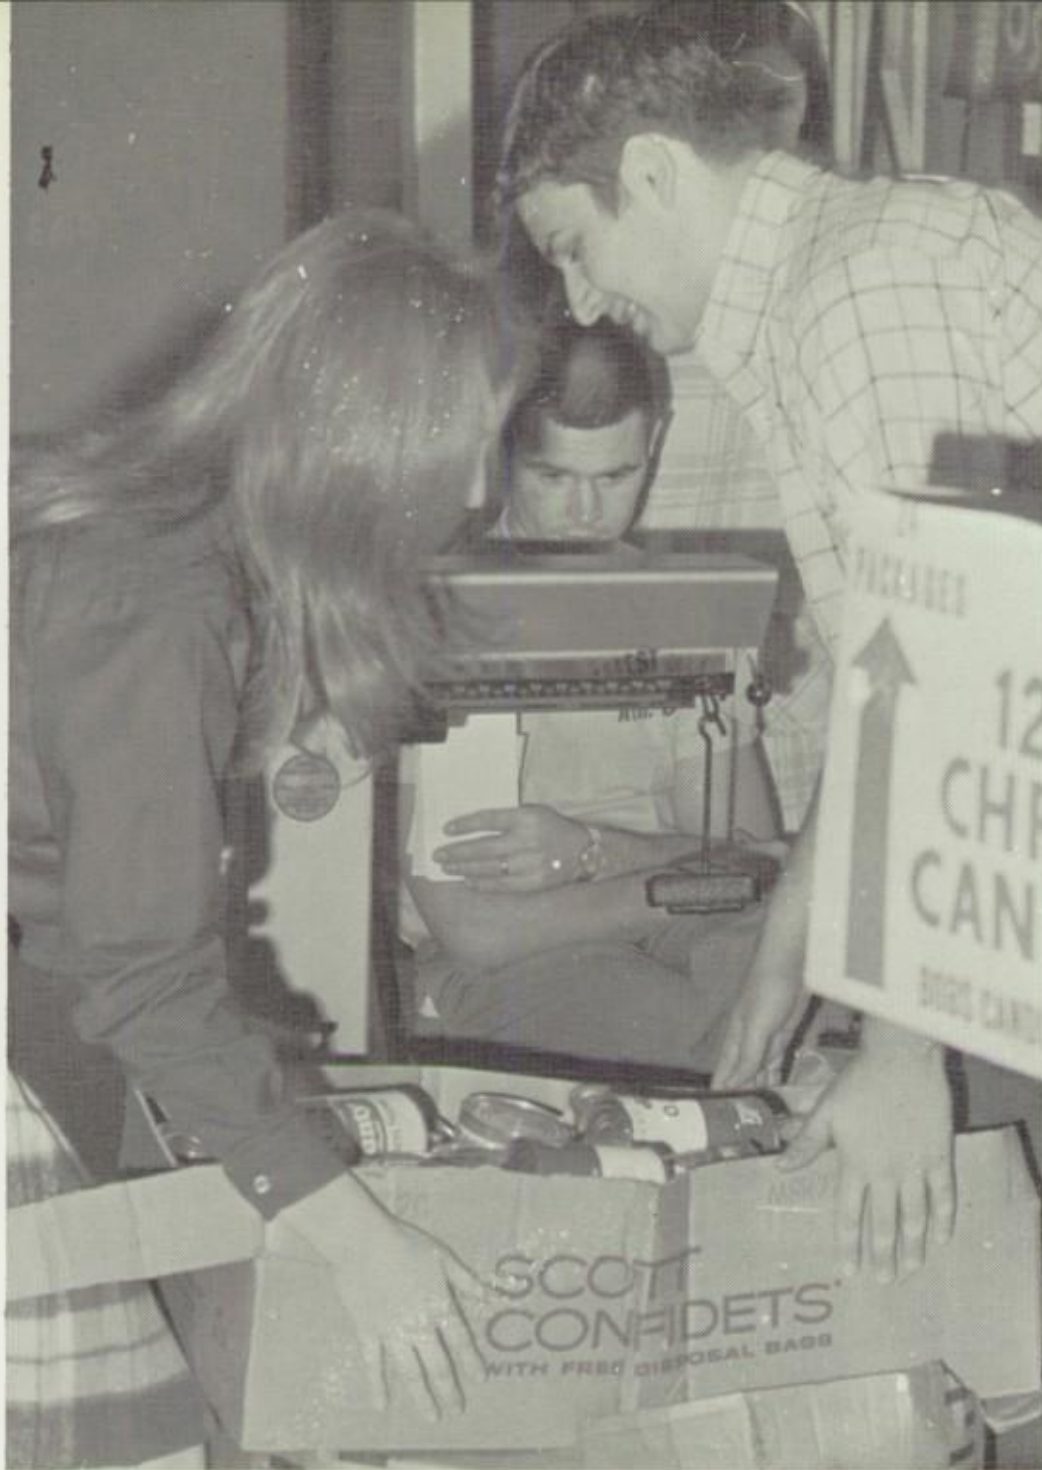

"Barefoot in the Park really sox it to you" exclaimed the banners read by two barefoot seniors, Bill Murawski and John Connelly.

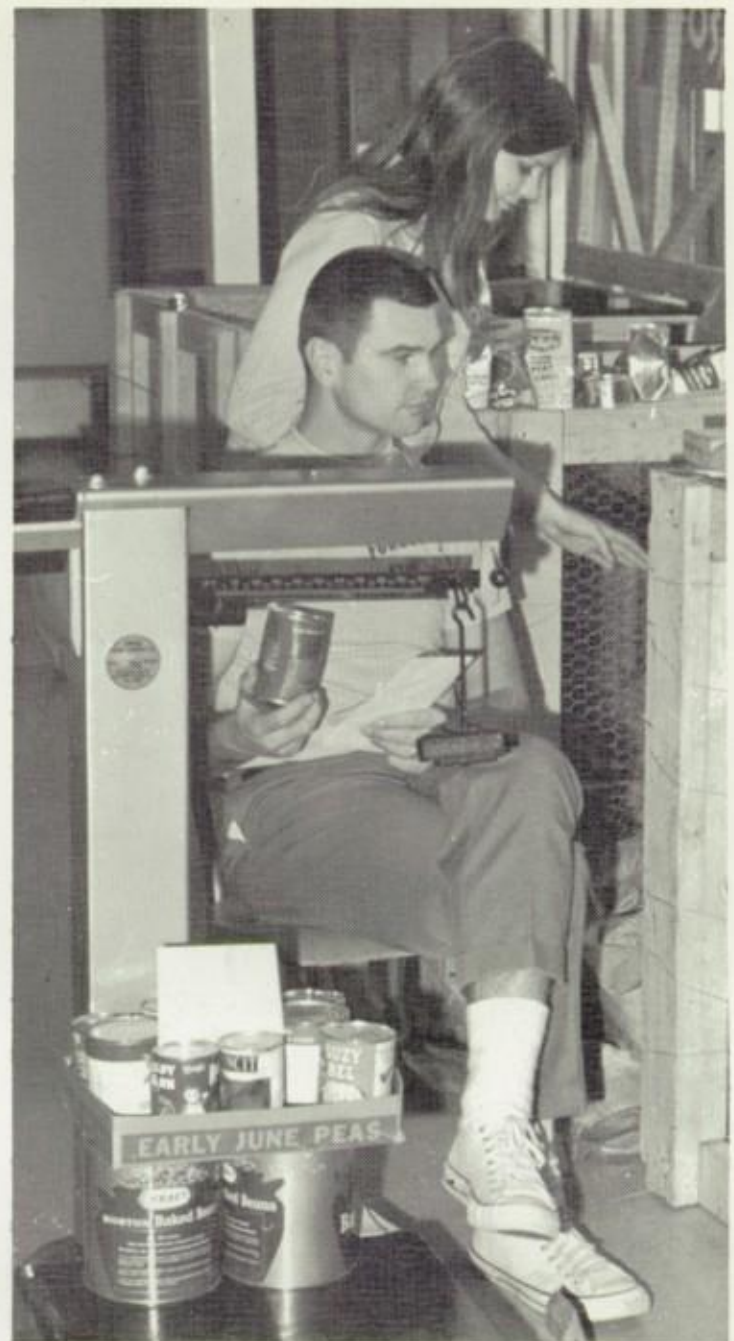

" 'Barefoot...' Really Sox It to You' "

Corie Bratter strained to understand a panting deliveryman.

Kim Bender and Mike Munao removed cans from the scale.

Mr. North weighed the cans for each class.

11,731 Pounds of Food Fed Needy People

These tomatoes became a part of some hungry family's holiday dinner.

The annual Canned Food Drive, sponsored by the Student Council, proved the generosity of Forest View students. Although last year's poundage record was not reached, many poor families in Cook County had a merrier Christmas because of the 11,731 pounds of canned food that were collected and distributed. In addition to the cans of food, each of the four classes and the Student Council contributed twenty dollars towards the buying of turkeys for the needy families.

As in past years, the drive was run on a class-competition basis. The senior class won the contest by having the most pounds per person at the end of the week. A fifth bin received food from those students not wishing to participate in the competition, but wishing to contribute to the drive. Mike Munao, general chairman, organized the drive, held during the week preceding Christmas vacation, December 16-19.

Queen Fran and her escort, Jim Remsen, relaxed after the coronation.

Fran Rucci reacted to her announcement as queen.

Couples relaxed at tables adjacent to the dance floor.

Many clubs recognized the Christmas season by decorating various areas of the building designated by the Student Council. The Canned Food Drive gave each student the opportunity to show his holiday spirit by donating food to be given to poor families in the surrounding communities.

The week was climaxed on December 21, 1968, by the annual Christmas Ball. This year it was entitled "Mid-Winter's Dream" and was sponsored by the senior class. Francene Rucci was crowned queen, and with her escort, Jim Remsen, led her court in the coronation dance. All the couples attending could enjoy cookies and punch, and dancing to the music of The Ill Winds.

Dancing was enjoyed by many couples.

Hamlet (Chris Hill) and Horatio (Joe Hammond) anxiously watched the King as the play progressed.

"Get thee to a nunnery!" exclaimed Hamlet to Ophelia (Marti McCormick).

Fortinbras (Bill Michalek) watched Horatio help a dying Hamlet to the throne.

Hamlet: A Modern Prose Adaptation of Murder, Madness, Ghosts, and Love

On March 14, 15, and 16, Forest View presented Shakespeare's Hamlet in a modern prose version adapted by its director, Mr. Charles Wilde. The tragedy featured a double cast to increase participation and involve more underclassmen in a dramatic experience.

The plot of Hamlet revolves around murder, madness, ghosts, graveyards, and love. Melancholy after the death of his father, Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, seeks revenge upon learning his father was killed by his Uncle Claudius, now the King. Hamlet learns that a group of dramatic players are coming to entertain the court and inserts some lines of his own into their play, causing it to resemble the circumstances surrounding his father's death. Upon viewing the play, Claudius flees from the room. Inadvertently, Hamlet kills Polonius, adviser to the King.

Shocked by the death of her father, Ophelia, whom Hamlet loved, drowns herself. Laertes, Ophelia's brother, returns from France, hoping to revenge the death of his father. On advice from the King, Laertes challenges Hamlet to a duel. Claudius prepares a fatal drink in case the poison on the tip of Laertes' sword fails to kill the young prince. Gertrude, the Queen, raises a toast to Hamlet, takes a sip of the potent drink, and dies. Hamlet is wounded, but before he dies, he kills Laertes and the King.

Chris Hill and Steve Firszt appeared as Hamlet, Mike Knapp as Claudius, Tom Maze and Arnold Klemn as Polonius, Marti McCormick and Laurie Hysell as Ophelia, Brian Gillespie and Mark Denney as Laertes, and Bernice Harris and Sue Lee portrayed Gertrude.

Hamlet (Steve Firszt) urged Guildenstern (Dave Boyle) to play the flute as Rosencrantz (Mike Dorosh) looked on.

A line of the first-semester creative writing students showed an array of footwear and other fashions.

Forest View's Fads and Fashions

Fads and fashions at high schools throughout the country influenced the thoughts and ideas of Forest View students, too.

A television show, Laugh-In, used many phrases which were soon incorporated into the Falcons' vocabulary. They included: "sock it to 'em" "verrry interesting," "here come de judge," "look that up in your Funk and Wagnall's," "blow in his ear and he'll follow you anywhere," and "do your own thing."

Ruffles, lace, suede, simulated leather, and fake fur enhanced girls' fashions. Kilt skirts and dirndl skirts were "in," then "out." Victorian curls were worn in both short and long hair. Shoes of heavy, antique-looking leather with large heels made passing periods noisier than ever.

Boys and girls alike wore turtleneck tops, Nehru jackets, and bell-bottom pants.

And, yet, voices were raised for "youth power" and self-identity in the mass of those hurrying to conform with non-conformity.

Nancy Weber showed that long hair was still in style this year.

Mrs. Margaret Cadle proved that even the faculty members were fashion-minded this year.

Chris,

I don't know where to start, except from the beginning. I didn't even know you, & yet I came to you with my most personal problems. You appeared to ^{be} a very understanding person, & I knew that I could trust you. Telling you about Bill was hard, but when I finished telling you the whole thing, I felt so much better inside. I then knew that sharing your most inner feelings with someone, can be wonderful. Ever since that day, our friendship has grown into ↓ something ^{beautiful} which is hard to explain - but I'll try. Chris, every thing I say now, are my true feelings & the things that I keep in my heart. You're my closest & most dearest friend, and I love you. When I say I love you Chris - I mean it. I feel that I can say that I love you, because the relationship that we have is so meaningful to me. We have an understanding for each other, & which is sometimes very hard to find. Well, I found it, in a girl who means the world to me, & if anything ever happened to you, I'd die. Really Chris - I've never known anyone like you, & I'm so glad that I was lucky enough to get to be close friends with a person like you.

 When you're happy, I'm happy - when you're sad - or depressed - I am too - because well... friends are like that.
 I wish you all the luck in the world with Mike. He's a great guy and I know how much you love him. I know that you two will get married - I believe that very much! You two are perfect for each other. I wish you both

Focus on Athletics

School is ATHLETICS . . . the opportunity to experience the exciting frenzy of victory and the numbing disappointment of defeat . . . Forest View's students maintained a high level of school spirit during all sports seasons. This support greatly encouraged the Falcon athletes and enabled them to perform to their fullest capabilities. Daily practices train the boys in skill and routines of their respective sports. Badminton and tennis teams give girls a chance to compete in inter-school athletics. Intramurals for boys and GRA for girls conduct organized competition within our school. Leaders in PE classes provide assistance to teachers and allow boys and girls to use their leadership potential constructively.
 However, stress on good sportsmanship is the goal of all athletic activities.

all the happiness in the world. You both deserve that!

Chris, I pray that our friendship lasts forever. We have so much fun together - & I love it. With the Barooda, Bahama, Mama & Cringeminga! What a riot - But, there are also the times that we can sit down & discuss ^(at Sat. nites - May) our problems & it makes me feel so important, that you're confiding in me. I'm always happy to help you, in any way I can. Remember that, O.K.?
 Also, remember that finding you, in the darkest part of my life, is the best thing that has ever happened to me. God Bless!

1968 Golfers Teed Off for Third and Second Conference Marks

The 1968 Forest View varsity golf team, coached by Mr. Allan Kintzle, finished third in the conference with a 3-3-1 record. Overall, the team had six wins, four losses, and one tie. In the conference meet, the team finished in fourth place.

The 1969 golf team, headed by Mr. Art Klein, had four returning lettermen. One was junior Wayne Meier, who was the most promising underclassman according to the coaches. He currently holds the school record for nine holes with an even par of thirty-five. Wayne placed sixth in the conference in 1968.

The 1968 frosh-soph golf team finished second in the conference with a 6-1 record. Their only loss was to Prospect. The overall record was ten wins and one loss. The team was led by sophomore Mike Morgan who broke a school record when he shot an even par thirty-six at the Mount Prospect Country Club course.

by Injuries, Had Disappointing Season

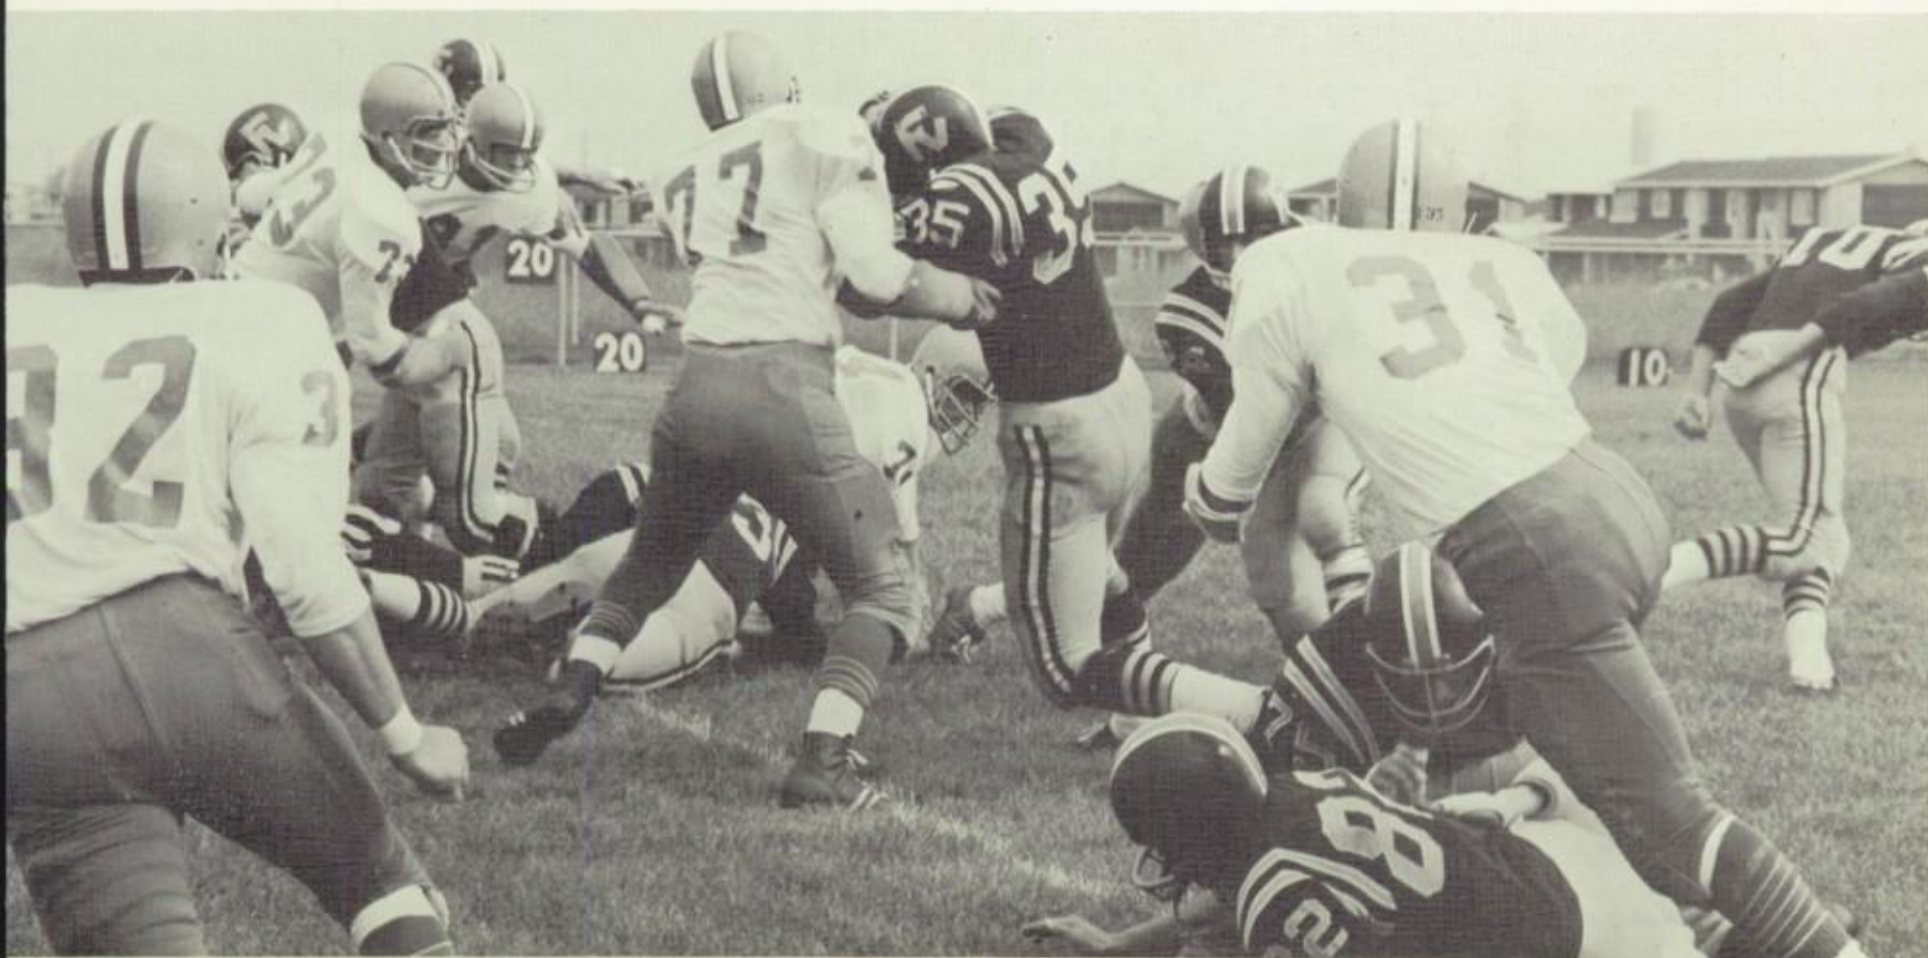

The 1968 varsity football squad was plagued by many injuries among its returning lettermen of the 1967 conference championship team. Many sophomores and juniors were moved to the varsity level this year to bolster the backfield and defensive line.

After a narrow defeat by Deerfield, the gridgers were shut out by rival Arlington, last year's co-champs. The loss to Wheeling was followed by the season's one victory over newcomer Glenbard. The season concluded with four defeats and a tie with Elk Grove plus the loss of several more key players.

Coach Paul Jordan is anxious to begin practice with next year's varsity team. He believes that with the experience the underclassmen gained this year they should be well prepared to tackle all foes in 1969.

JV, Soph, and Frosh Football Teams Showed

Much Enthusiasm, Said Coaches

The members of the junior, sophomore, and freshmen football squads showed great enthusiasm, according to their respective coaches.

The junior varsity team played much of the season without its top boys who were moved to the varsity level. Mr. Keith North, head JV coach, guided the players to an overall record of three wins and five losses.

One win, one tie, and seven losses was the final record of the sophomore football team. In spite of the disappointing defeats, Coach Fred Lussow's boys were "always prepared to try their hardest," he said.

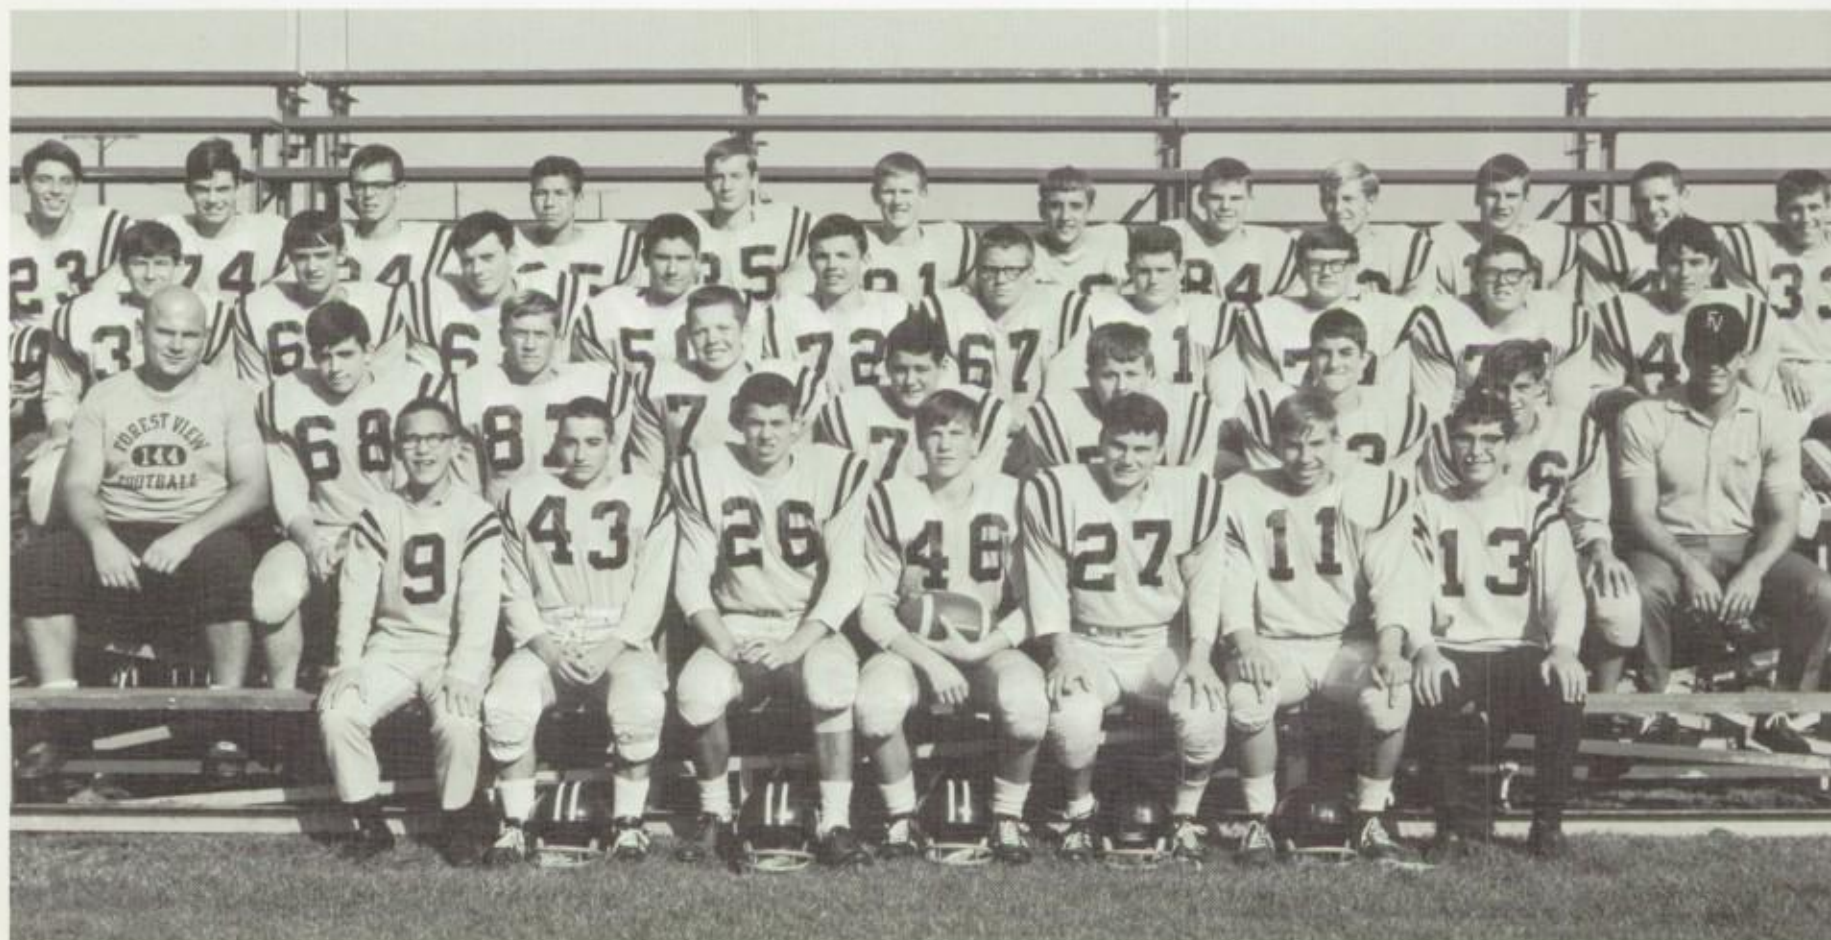

The freshmen A team compiled a 1-4-3 record, and the B team finished the season 5-2-1. The large turnout of enthusiastic freshmen boys ready to play football was a very encouraging sight to their coaches, Mr. Hal Sprehe and Mr. Gay Hughes.

The spirits of both cross country teams ran high throughout the 1968 season. The varsity coach, Mr. John Heenan, especially appreciated the talents of his two returning lettermen, Tom Vaughn and Bob Bell.

Two losses and two wins began the varsity season. Rivals Elk Grove and Arlington, last year's state champs, dealt the harriers two more defeats. They then placed second in the New Trier Triangular meet. Victories over Glenbard North and Hersey preceded the three final meets which were lost to Palatine, Prospect, and Barrington.

The frosh-soph team, coached by Mr. Elmer Bornman, also earned a 5-8 record. Their outstanding boys, Matt Russo, Scott McGovney, Tom Keyzer, and Ted Francis, finished second, sixth, seventh, and eleventh in the Evanston Freshmen Invitational Meet and led their team to a first-place finish there.

Cagers Had Excellent Conference Start, But Finished Fourth

With the dream of taking the conference championship, the Forest View Varsity basketball team took on one of its stiffest schedules. Despite the fact that the 1968-69 Falcon Cagers began the year with two non-conference losses to Maine West and Elgin, they soon took over the basketball courts with five wins in a row. Their hopes then became thwarted with a series of losses. Led by Coach Kenneth Arneson, the Falcons came through with a record of 8-6 for conference competition and a 12-9 overall record.

Among the highlights of this past season were the consolation championship at the holiday tournament at Batavia and two wins over Elk Grove. The team's success this year was climaxed by winning the District 214 Milton F. Sprunger Sportsmanship Award.

JV, Soph, and Frosh Basketball

Squads Experienced Tough Competition

Area JV, sophomore, and freshmen basketball squads were excellent opponents for the Falcon cagers. There was ample opportunity for Forest View boys to move within the three team levels.

Mr. Fred Empkie coached the JV squad, which earned a 5-14 overall mark. Many members, however, competed on the varsity level.

The sophomore team gained an even 10-10 season record. Coach Paul Jordan prepared the boys for JV competition next year. JV games, which are played at night, attract more spectators and especially test the boys' ability to perform under pressures.

Most freshmen built on the basketball experiences they had received in junior high schools. They competed on both A and B levels, according to skill. The A team ended the season with a 9-9 record. The B team received a 1-11 total.

Wrestlers Completed Successful Season With a 7-2 Record

Forest View's varsity wrestlers compiled an impressive record of seven wins and four losses in dual meet competition for the 1968-69 school year. After two losses to Deerfield and Maine East, the Falcons went on a six-meet winning streak by beating Fremd, Hersey, Elk Grove, Wheeling, Palatine, and Glenbard North in succession. Our wrestlers then suffered a loss to Arlington, but came back to beat Conant. The Falcons closed the season by a close defeat to Prospect.

This year, Forest View's wrestlers placed third in the Prospect Tournament and second and first in the Elmwood Park and Main South quadrangulares, respectively.

In the district meet, Sophomore Pete Lind at 95 pounds took a second, Juniors Tom Moore and Mike Pirron at 120 pounds and 127 pounds each took a first, and Senior Bill Sundblom at 138 pounds took a second. Tom Moore, Mike Pirron, and Bill Sundblom then entered the sectionals where Tom and Bill received thirds and Mike first, which enabled him to enter downstate competition.

All Wrestlers Developed Skills As They Gained Experience

The diet restrictions and rigorous exercises were experienced for the first time by freshman wrestlers. JV and sophomore coaches concentrated on the development of those skills taught in freshman wrestling.

The JV squad was coached by Mr. John Ellis and earned an overall record of 6-5. Its conference record was 6-3. Coach Darryl Phillips guided his sophomore grapplers to an overall 4-6-1 mark. Their conference mark was 3-5-1. A number of sophomore and junior wrestlers, especially those participating in the lower-weight classes, were promoted to the varsity level.

Coach John Wollenburg emphasized constant effort in achieving a 7-4 season record with his freshmen. The boys gained a 6-3 record in conference competition. As new wrestlers, they learned various wrestling holds and strategies.

Varsity Gymnasts Finished Third in MSL With 14-1 Record

Forest View's Varsity Gymnastics team ended their 1968-69 season with a 14-1 record. The team began the season with wins over Willowbrook, Maine West, Hersey, Lake Forest, and Elk Grove. During Christmas vacation, Forest View placed 10th in the Waukegan Invitational. To start the new year off right, the varsity achieved success in overwhelming wins against Wheeling, Addison Trail, Palatine, and Wheaton North. The team experienced its only dual-competition loss of the season to Arlington. Easy wins over West Leyden, Conant, Fremd, Glenbard North, and a close win over Prospect ended the season. On March 1, the varsity gymnasts went on to the conference meet held at Arlington High School. Coach Gay Hughes sadly announced Forest View's disappointing 5th place among the Mid-Suburban League schools, enabling the team to place third in final conference standings.

The Frosh-Soph Gymnasts completed their season with a record of 11 wins and 4 losses. Coach Edward Cheatham was greatly impressed with this year's team and is looking forward to an even better record next year.

Competitive Swimming Stressed Development of Underclassmen

Swimming teams practiced each day of the winter sports' season after school in the St. Viator swimming pool. Competition emphasized the development of the underclassmen. Therefore, in many meets the freshmen and sophomore boys were moved to the varsity level. According to varsity coach Mr. Gordon Aukerman, in one or two years Forest View High School will have the top swimming team in the area.

The varsity squad earned a 6-7 overall record and, with the help of talented underclassmen, placed second in the St. Viator Relays. The frosh-soph team remained undefeated in all dual meets and was coached by Mr. Robert Farlandeau.

Track Teams Strove for New Records

This year's varsity track team was as strong as ever, according to its coaches. Juniors Terry Shakon and Mike Keen led in the sprints. Seniors Tom Vaughn and Tom Van Antwerp were strong distance runners. Hurdling were Rick Potter, Dave Long, and Mark Ennes; and competing in the shot-put were Rick Weigman and Bill Stark. Jumpers Howard Mock and Scotty Cousins worked hard for new records, while pole vaulters Don Hammer and Howard Mock strove for new heights.

The members of the sophomore squad worked hard to learn the basic fundamentals necessary to achieve proficiency. Though none of them were specifically outstanding, each, according to the coaching staff, showed the promise and capability for future successful competition on the varsity level.

Mr. John Heenan, Mr. Keith North, Mr. Fred Lussow, and Mr. Don Phillips coached the members of both teams.

Players Found Stiff Tennis Competition

Bill Joyce returned the ball with a forehand stroke.

The Falcons had a strong team despite the fact that Mike Kinneman was the only returning senior. Coach Doug Tolman had high hopes for the team since some of the boys from last year's frosh-soph conference champs were moved up to the varsity level. Don Martin was seeded first in singles play, Fred Melone was seeded second, and Scott Vaughn was seeded third. Mike Kinneman and Bill Joyce plus Richard Martin and Kirk Buckholz played doubles matches.

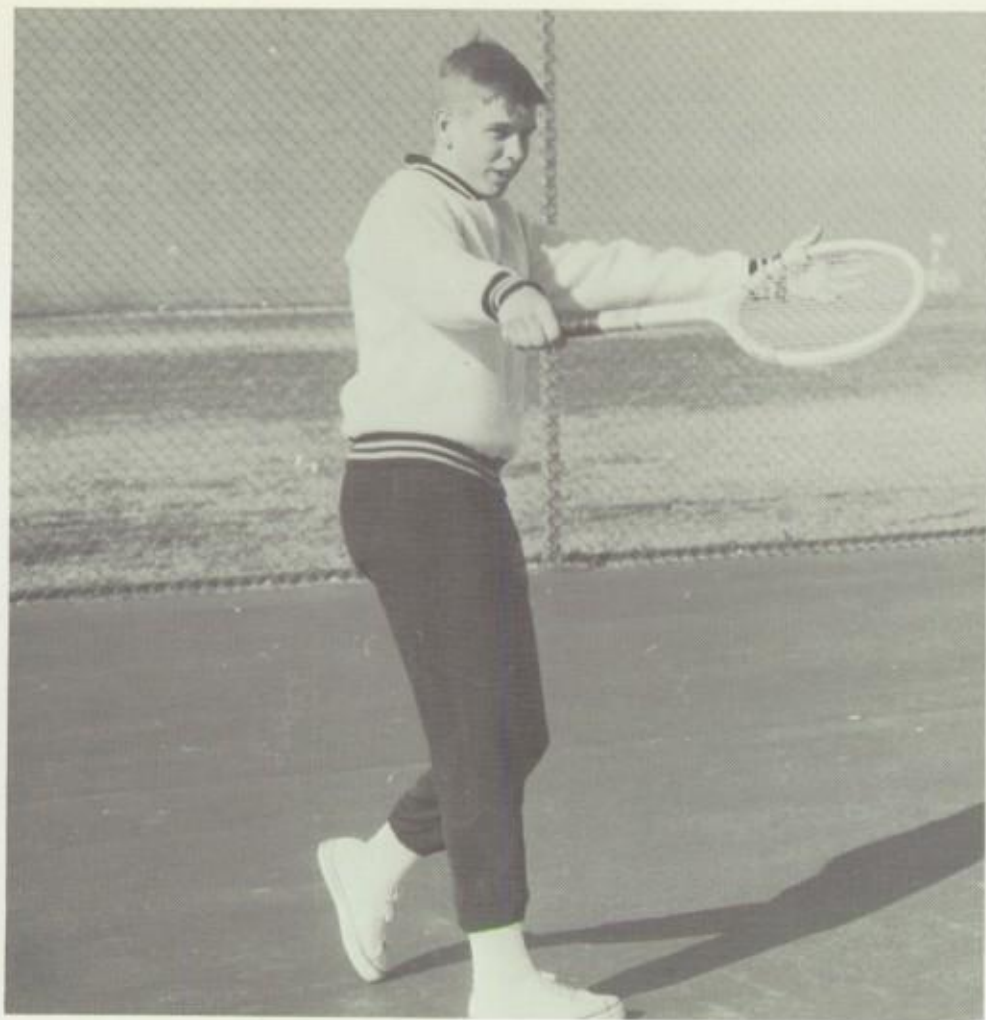

The sixteen boys on the frosh-soph team competed in eighteen meets. Jeff Rud, Art Jones, and Richard Thompson were singles players, while Larry Nikodem and Rick Karcher and Steve Allen and Mark Gonzalez played doubles matches.

The team was coached by Mr. Robert Fardeau.

Baseball Teams Aimed at Success

Competition was keen on the varsity baseball team this year. Led by returning lettermen John Caltagirone, Frank May, and Keith Bauer, plus many promising juniors, Coach Hal Sprehe found many boys vying for key positions. The infield consisted of John Caltagirone, Frank Russo, Rich Olson, Greg Swanson, and Marion Cotten. The outfielders were Joel Ellefsen, Gabino Galindo, and Ryan Maly. The catching duties were handled by Roger Cardinell, Bruce Kratky, and Guy Ekblad. Frank May, Keith Bauer, Ed Johnson, Les McIntyre, and Steve Kellett made up the pitching staff. According to Coach Sprehe, Forest View had the opportunity for a great year.

This year's sophomore baseball team was under the capable direction of Coach Gordon Aukerman. Skills and strategies learned last year were strengthened. The team members worked diligently to gain the experience needed to prepare them for a successful year in league competition.

Practice was the key word for the freshman baseball team. Coach Mark Thorne tried hard to impress upon the team the importance of learning the basic fundamentals of baseball. The class of '72 showed much promise for upholding the Falcon tradition of success in future years.

Lettermen Held "Spirit Cap" Sale and "Harvest Moon"

The Lettermen's Club sponsored projects to involve the Forest View student body in activities concerning athletics. Its members, aided by sponsors Mr. Hal Sprehe and Mr. Keith North, continued the lettermen's traditional Fall Festival Dance, this year entitled "Harvest Moon," and initiated the showing of a feature film in the spring. In October, to build school spirit, the members sold black and gold "spirit caps" with the letters FV on the brim to raise money and encourage attendance at all athletic contests. Their lounge, located in the wrestling room in C-Building, was opened to adults during the half-time of all home basketball games in order that adults might enjoy a cup of coffee while relaxing during the game break. Throughout the year, the lettermen helped to organize pep rallies and were proud participants in the Forest View athletic program.

Cheerleaders Led Falcon Spirit "It's Grrreat"

It was the main goal of this year's cheerleading squad to generate school spirit and good sportsmanship. Headed by Mrs. Barbara Farroh, these girls made banners and posters, sold ribbons, led students in cheers at pep assemblies, and were present at all competitive sport events, urging our Falcons to victory.

This year a new policy was put into effect by choosing the freshmen squad before summer vacation. This change gave the girls a summer-practice period similar to that of the varsity and junior varsity squads.

To provide extra training for the varsity squad, the girls attended a one-week cheerleading camp at Illinois State University the third week of June. Besides attending lectures and demonstrations there, they participated in competition against other squads. The varsity squad proved their unifying ability, enthusiastic character, and interest in promoting spirit and good sportsmanship when they received two firsts, two seconds, one third, and a special award for outstanding spirit during competition.

Intramurals — Opportunity for Athletic Competition

Selected evenings each week found many Forest View boys in the gymnasium participating in intramurals. Intramurals provided them with the opportunity to compete in intra-school sport events, such as basketball, volleyball, and bemidjiball.

Mr. Mark Thorne and Mr. John Wollenburg coordinated all activities.

Girls Competed Athletically in Tennis, Badminton

Both the Girls' Tennis Team and the Girls' Badminton Team competed in the North Suburban Tennis and Badminton Leagues. The team members ranged from freshmen to seniors.

The Girls' Tennis Team finished sixth out of nine teams in their division. Awards were presented at the end of the season according to the number of years each girl had competed, from one to three. Roxanne Corrado was the team captain, and the sponsor was Miss Ellen Witherspoon.

The Girls' Badminton Team consisted of twenty-three girls who were separated into an A and a B team. Their sponsor, Miss Ellen Witherspoon, gave awards at the end of the season.

GRA Increased Membership and Held More Athletic and Social Events

GRA, the Girls' Recreation Association, sponsored by Mrs. Glorienne Fredin and Miss Ellen Witherspoon, this year registered 170 members, in comparison to last year's membership enrollment of 146 girls. One purpose of this organization was to provide girls with sports activities supplementary to their everyday gym class. The sports offered this year included tennis, basketball, gymnastics, bowling, and volleyball. Throughout the year, girls interested in athletics and exercise attended GRA after school. A different sport was offered each quarter.

Besides organizing sports activities, the GRA also sponsored social events and competitive playdays with other schools. During the year, GRA held a Volleyball Playday, a bake sale, a ski trip, a Dad-daughter Volleyball Night, a car wash, a picnic, and a Mother-daughter Golf Day. In addition, the club sold "Sock it to 'em" buttons to raise money to support its activities.

"Oh, no. We missed," cried Pam Granzow.

Qualified Seniors Aided P.E. Teachers

Boys and girls interested in leadership, service, and education had the opportunity to gain experience through participation in the junior and senior leader programs. Qualified seniors helped supervise gym classes by leading exercises, taking attendance, scheduling tournaments, officiating games, and coaching individuals.

Members of the junior leaders class, chosen at the close of their sophomore year from many applicants, experienced an entire year of training before becoming qualified to serve as senior leaders. All sports activities offered by the Forest View Physical Education Department were both analyzed and played in this year of preparation. Also, various presentation techniques and some aspects of student behavior were taught.

At the end of the junior leader year, the sponsors, Miss Doral Rose and Mr. Hal Sprehe, selected the senior leaders. In aiding the teachers, each leader gained confidence, improved his leadership qualities, and developed a sense of responsibility.

Focus on Organizations

School is ORGANIZATIONS . . . the opportunity to participate with others in educational and recreational activities . . . Mr. Burton Showers, Director of Student Activities at Forest View High School, feels that, "Those students who participate in many extra-curricular activities enjoy their four years of high school more than those students who are less active." NHS, NFL, Tri-M, Mu Alpha Theta, and Quill and Scroll are special honorary societies for students who met the various initiation requirements. Departmental clubs offer the student the chance to study outside the classroom in fields of interest with others who have similar interests. There are clubs such as FTA and FHA which enable the student to learn about certain professions. Stamp and Coin Club and Chess Club are among those organizations created for students with special interests. Each of the organizations holds regular meetings to carry out club business and listen to guest speakers.

Involvement is the key! This was the theme that the 1968-69 Student Council tried to carry out. Every student at Forest View High School was given the opportunity to express his views either through the new homeroom reporting system or in Open Council. Through homeroom reporting, the students heard a summary of the Council's activities. They were then encouraged to ask questions and express their opinions. In Open Council, students were invited to attend Student Council business meetings. From observing these meetings, they saw exactly how the organization functioned.

A kick-off mixer and the Variety Show were just two of the projects sponsored by Student Council. Traditional Fall Festival was made even more thrilling by the use of fireworks at the rally. And once again the Student Council sponsored the Canned Food Drive at Christmas and a Fun Nite in March.

As a reward for their hard work, the Student Council received word in December that Forest View had been chosen as the site of the 1972 National Student Council Convention.

Seniors Sponsored Fun Nite and Yuletide Ball

The Senior class led the other classes in involvement in activities and sponsorship of special projects. The officers, Don Cappelen, Rich Thayer, and Fran Rucci, worked throughout the summer along with Dr. Jenness to secure a senior lounge for 1968-69. Other senior projects were spirit weeks, concessions, mixers, and a "Roaring '20's" Fun Nite. In addition, monthly class meetings, decorations for Fall Festival and Christmas, the canned food drive, the senior gift, and "Mid-Winter's Dream," this year's Christmas Ball, were planned and carried out. During the year two seniors, Tom Schoenfeld and Frank Rodriguez, were added to class board because of their willingness to work and general concern for the class. The sponsors of the board were Mrs. Virginia Kercheval, Mr. Thomas Hansen, and Mr. Richard Stanowski.

Junior Goals — Unity, Participation, Successful Prom

The main goals of the Junior Class Board were class unity, participation, and a successful Junior-Senior Prom. Their first project was a get-together to welcome junior transfer students. Throughout the year, the Class Board strived for class meetings that were enjoyable for all members of the class. That they encouraged participation from everyone was shown in the gunny-sack race between the "greasers," the "long hairs," and the "athletes." The class continued to set new records. In concessions at the Deerfield football game, they broke the record they had previously set for the greatest amount of money made on concessions at Forest View High School. All of the money from junior projects went towards sponsoring the 1969 prom.

Leadership was provided by President Lyle Green, Vice-President Tom Ventura, and Secretary-Treasurer Barb Conway. The Class Board was under the guidance of sponsors Mr. Charles Widlowski and Mrs. Jean Shelton.

Sophs Earned Money; Held Couples' Dance

The "Savagely Spirited Class of '71" led by Mr. Roland Wickiser, Miss Eileen Gascon, class sponsors, and Brian Gillespie, president, earned the title of the richest class Forest View High School has ever had.

Through successful football concession sales, organized by class board members and volunteers, and a novel idea for a couples' dance held in early spring, the class earned money needed for future activities.

The couples' dance, held March 8, was the first of its kind. Themed "Scarborough Fair," the dance was semi-formal.

"Super Sophomores" had the opportunity of displaying their enthusiasm during March 17-21 in their spirit week.

Freshmen Earned at Turnabout and Concessions

The freshman class, under the direction of President Jay Hedges, Vice-President Kim Corbett, and Secretary-Treasurer Pat Seeling, actively participated in school functions during the past year.

All-school projects in which the class of '72 took part included the Canned Food Drive and the decoration of the building for Fall Festival and Christmas.

The freshman class earned money for their class treasury by sponsoring concessions at various sports events and holding the annual Turnabout in April.

Jay Hedges campaigned for the freshman presidency at the first class meeting.

Challenged

Student Apathy

A high point of the school year for the Student Involvement Coordinating Committee (SICC) was the confrontation between representatives of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and the John Birch Society. The debate was open to the entire student body. Members also hoped that monetary gifts could be made to help needy areas of the world.

Weekly discussions were held on local, national, and international topics to promote critical thinking among Forest View students. SICC attempted to challenge suburban student apathy.

Chris Spakowicz recorded various ideas.

SICC members discussed fund-raising plans.

TALON STAFF: Gail Miller, Debbie Mell, Margaret Semple, Linda Johnson, Bonnie Schnitta.

Talon Added Curriculum Section, Theme, Color, Duotone, and Pages

Assembly of the 1969 Talon began in June of 1968 when staff members exchanged ideas and presented them to Editor-in-Chief Jan Booth and Assistant Editor Debbi Hedges. These suggestions, as well as a copy of the 1968 Talon, accompanied each girl to the respective journalism workshops which they attended in the summer. Debbi, who attended Northern Illinois University during the last week of June, and Jan, who attended the University of Wisconsin during the last two weeks of July, learned many of the essentials of yearbook production, such as what forms balanced page design; what is included in good copy, the written portion of the book; and how to plan and crop pictures effectively. (Cropping is the process by which a picture is reduced to center on the point of action of the photograph.) The girls relayed this information to the staff in the fall and began the actual work.

The theme, Focus on Opportunities, was introduced in the opening seventeen pages of the yearbook and concluded in the six-page closing section. This theme was planned and developed so that it continued throughout the book in copy, captions, headings, and division pages, which separate each yearbook section from the one which preceded it.

Besides the addition of thirty-two pages, fifteen color pictures and fourteen duotone pictures, which are black and burgundy in the 1969 Talon, were used. A special screen effect was also used on the left-hand page of each division spread to emphasize the idea of focus expressed in the theme.

With these reader-appeal factors, and the expanded news coverage, which included the new curriculum section, the 1969 Talon staff hopes that, while glancing through these pages, each student can recall this year at Forest View.

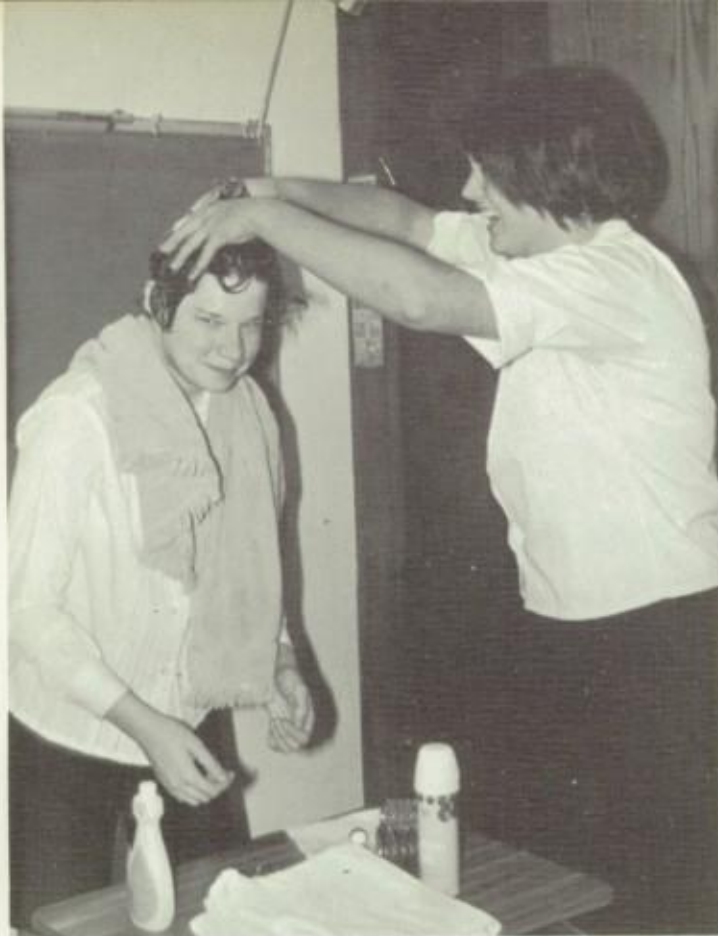

In the yearbook office, Mary Ann Hughes and Karen Powers filed pictures as Fran Rucci typed.

All-American Viewer Featured Issues of Today

Tim Priehs and Carolyn Colbeck discussed distribution of the Viewer.

This year's newspaper staff tried to create a new Viewer. It not only attempted to cover all phases of student life, but also went outside of the school to write about timely issues of the day. With a larger staff, the Viewer was able to cover more material than in years past. In-depth feature articles included the Presidential election and campaign, youth involvement in politics, the recent disturbances in Chicago, and the formation of a new Student Involvement Coordinating Committee at Forest View. On the lighter side, a music column, featuring an album review, was added. Special issues of the Viewer came out for the Variety Show, Fall Festival, Christmas, and graduation. Each of these special issues was longer than usual and contained more pictures. Also, the Viewer this year was awarded an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. The Viewer also sponsored the Student News Bureau, which gave Forest View's news to the local papers. Sponsor of this year's Viewer was Mr. Richard Carey; the co-editors were Nancy Cooper and Pat Flanigan.

Quill and Scroll is an honorary society for high school journalists. The group hosted a Publications Banquet in October and held its annual candlelight initiation ceremony in February. At both, the guest speakers were professional journalists. Fund-raising activities included sponsoring a coat check and concession at a home basketball game against Palatine on January 17. Qualified debate and individual events speakers had the opportunity to join National Forensics League, an honorary society for orators. With the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Margaret Cadle, members assembled the school calendar. They also had a Christmas party and held a banquet and awards night at the end of the year.

Mu Alpha Theta is an honorary society for those students who excel in mathematics. Sponsored by Mrs. Shari Feliksiak and under the leadership of John Calvello, the club engaged speakers such as Mr. Raymond Thibodeau and Mr. Norman McGregor to talk about short cuts in mathematics and opportunities in computer programming. A formal initiation for new members was held in the spring. Tri-M, The Modern Music Masters, is Forest View's honorary music organization. The year's activities included an all-school concert by Ray Tate, who is from the Old Town School of Music. Tri-M also organized the Music Department picnic.

NHS Sold Both Blue and Gold Pennants

NHS member John Alsterda worked in the paperback bookstore.

Students of National Honor Society began club activities this year by offering novel blue pennants to the student body. Unlike previous years, blue as well as the normal black and gold pennants were sold during Fall Festival week.

The sale of pennants and the sponsoring of basketball concessions and mixer helped the club earn money for a gift to the school in the late spring.

In the tradition of a service organization, NHS aided students by offering a tutoring service. National Honor Society sponsored the school book store which was open during all lunch hours and provided a variety of paperback books to the students.

In the early spring, club members began to prepare for the initiation of new members. The initiation of seniors, juniors and probationary sophomores was one of the club's most important activities. Parents of the initiates were invited to attend a ceremony in the theatre and enjoy refreshments in the cafeteria.

Orchesis Made Gold and White Uniforms

Members of Orchesis, Forest View's dance group, could be easily recognized by their new uniforms which they wore on various days throughout the school year. The uniforms were gold and white culottes and a gold vest worn over a white turtle neck top. Each girl made her own uniform. A diamond-shaped "Orchesis" patch accented the vest.

Orchesis entertained the student body by portraying many dance moods. The dance group performed at two basketball half-times. The first, December 20, involved elves, angels, and other Christmas spirits. The second was a salute to the armed forces. Orchesis concluded its year by holding its annual dance concert in the spring. It included many styles of movement and special effects.

Many opportunities for the Spanish student were found in the Spanish Club this year. According to President Joy Thompson, the possibility of sending a student abroad to study was considered. This program would be distinct from American Field Service (AFS) and would be under the name of Foreign Study Program, Youth for Understanding, or International Student Exchange. During the year, club members visited the "El Jarocho" Restaurant for an authentic Mexican meal. One student talked to the club about her summer study program in Mexico. A party for children of Head Start in Palatine was planned for Valentine's Day.

The purpose of Forest View's German Club was to promote interest in German culture, people, and customs. The club accomplished its goal by sponsoring many activities. The members saw slides and heard lectures about Germany, learned German folk dancing, and played Password in German. They also had a German Christmas party and helped decorate the school. The highlight of the year was a trip to Chicago's German Town.

The Russian Club sponsored a variety of activities this year. The members enjoyed seeing the Russian film "Alexander Nevsky" in December. Mrs. Yvonne Lorber, club sponsor, also arranged for the members to attend a Russian church service in St. George's Church in Chicago. Their other activities included a Red Lollipop Sale on May Day, a car wash in the spring, and creation of a Russian display case featuring Russian culture.

Forest View's Cercle Francais, under the guidance of Mrs. Darlene Washington, sponsored many enjoyable and interesting activities. The club began the year with its annual Crepe Suzette Day. The members prepared and sold crepe suzettes, a type of French pancake, to the rest of the student body. During a cheese-tasting party, the members sampled cheeses from France and other countries throughout the world. Committees were formed to study French plays and songs which were later presented at meetings. Slides and a guest speaker also helped to acquaint the club members with many aspects of France and its customs.

Towne Criers Were a New Vocal Group

Directed by Mr. Fred Schimmelman, the vocal groups of Forest View High School performed on a variety of occasions. They not only participated in school activities, but also sang for different events in the community. At school, the groups gave concerts and performed in assemblies and class meetings. In the community, they visited other schools, appeared before clubs, and sang at shopping centers.

The Towne Criers group was an addition to the Vocal Music Department this year. Along with the Vocales, an all-girl singing group, they performed in the Variety Show. The Choir, Girls' Glee Club, and Freshman Girls' Chorus performed with other District schools in the District 214 Music Festival.

Band Performed At Pep Sessions and In Concerts

The Instrumental Music Department at Forest View took part in many activities this past year. The Marching Band, under the direction of Mr. Fred Elliot, performed during the halftimes at football games, while the Concert Band presented two Sunday-afternoon programs. Instrumentalists also provided accompaniment for the Variety Show and the spring musical. Their talents also added a spark to the pep sessions and several class meetings. They participated in the District Music Festival on February 10 at Hersey High School.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Sandra Etchingham, the Falcettes performed at two football half-times, two basketball half-times, and a number of pep assemblies. The drill team also represented Forest View High School in Christmas and Memorial Day parades held in surrounding communities.

The A team consisted of thirty-two sophomore, junior, and senior girls. Money earned from sponsoring a coke dance and a football concession helped to buy black wool shorts for all A team members. Gold wool, which each girl made into a V-necked vest, was also purchased.

Most members of the B team were freshmen. However, transfer students were eligible. A year on the B squad made girls more ready for the spring try-outs for the A team.

Color guard became a separate drill unit this year. Its eight members wore black wool shorts and gold, black, and white plaid vests. They presented the colors at all home football and basketball games. In addition, they showed the colors at a Chicago Owls football game.

Falcettes' president, Patt Soto, presided over all organizational meetings and arranged the fund-raising events.

Future Teachers and Homemakers

Learned About Special Occupations

More involvement was the goal of the Future Teachers of America this year. Besides their annual Balloon Blast at the Fall Festival game and their Daffodil Sale in April, the club carried out a student-teacher switch day. Students were able to gain valuable experience by teaching the class of their choice for one or two periods.

During American Education Week, members made name tags for teachers and encouraged students to buy an apple for their favorite teacher. Lost, tired, and confused parents found members guiding them to their son or daughter's classroom during TPC night.

A new idea this year was a Christmas party for the children of faculty members.

Club members volunteered to entertain the youngsters.

The members of FTA gave up much of their free time throughout the year in the service of their school by aiding teachers in various ways. This service helped them develop skills they will find useful in the future.

This year, Forest View's Future Homemakers of America devoted its time to nationally sponsored service work programs. The members made contributions of their work to the Dixon State School and Northwest Community Hospital. Some of the FHA members' contributions were party favors for banquets and dinners. The club's sponsors were Mrs. Marcia Parsons and Mrs. Shirley Bonomo.

Art, Drama, and Human Relations Clubs

Explored Aspects of the Humanities

The main project of the Art Club, sponsored by Mr. John Doyle, was to make and sell Christmas cards. The members also displayed works of art representing various media such as ink, pencil, water color, and oil. The art displays were located in front of the theatre, on the walls in E-building, and in the English Resource Room of the library. Some of the club's drawings were also featured in the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Members of Drama Club formed stage crews for all dramatic productions. Meetings, led by President Mike Knapp, included discussions of make-up application, Reader's Theater, and character portrayal. The Drama Club also participated in the school-wide Christmas decorations by adding Christmas cheer to the second and third floors of A-building's west stairwell.

An exchange of visits between Forest View High School and predominantly black, inner-city high schools was sponsored by the Human Relations Club this year. A group of students from Forest View spent an entire day at South Shore High School, Harlan High School, and DuSable High School. Forest View reciprocated these visits by hosting each of these schools at Forest View for a day. During these exchange visits, the students from these schools were able to obtain first-hand accounts of a school system that differed from their own through visiting classes and having discussions among the students and faculty. Among the purposes of these visits was the promotion of a better understanding of the problems that exist in Chicago public schools which have caused disturbances.

This year, a step farther was taken to advance this understanding. The Human Relations Club gained support from the student body to formulate a Negro exchange program in which blacks and whites would exchange communities and schools for six weeks.

IE Prepared Readings and Speeches;

Debate Pursued Topic Evidence

The Individual Speech Events and Debate teams participated in various speech activities throughout the year.

IE attended eight tournaments. Members of the team were Chris Hill, original monologue and radio speaking; Mike Knapp, serious play reading and after-dinner speaking; Bette Costa, extemporaneous speaking; Mary Lynn Cotten, oratorical declamation and prose reading; Sue Price, verse reading and comedy play reading; Sue Jones, original oration. Chris and Mike qualified for the sectional tournament by placing first in original monologue and second in serious play reading, respectively.

This year's debate topic was Resolved: That the United States should establish a system of compulsory service for all citizens. Those debating on the negative side were Ellen Martin and Joyce Scheller. Affirmative positions were taken by Janet Schultz and Chuck McHaley. Varsity coach Mrs. Joyce Lindmark and novice coaches Miss Linda Cesario and Mr. Gary Worthington trained and aided the students in frequent after-school sessions. Team members began research in the summer and searched for further information during the entire school year.

The varsity team attended nine tournaments, placing third at Rich Central and third at Northern Illinois University. In Suburban Interstate Debate League, Forest View High School achieved a fifth-place season mark among approximately eleven schools.

Chemistry, Tropical Fish, and Biology Clubs Planned Field Trips

Chemistry Club met during the eighth hour on Thursdays. Its members experimented with various chemicals in order to discover some of the scientific laws of chemistry. The club could not begin meeting until the second semester since interested students had not yet gained adequate knowledge of physical science. Club sponsor, Mr. Timothy Schapp, hoped that a field trip could be planned for the late spring.

New to Forest View High School this year was the Tropical Fish Club. Under the guidance of Mr. Renwick Nicholls and President Don Germano, the club invited any interested students to join them in the study of fish native to tropical waters. Field trips to the Shedd Aquarium in Chicago were planned for the spring.

The purpose of this year's Biology Club was to give students an opportunity to expand their interest in biological science. Besides having regular, informal meetings, the club had special activities which included science-related field trips. Members had the chance to serve in the capacity of teacher's aide or lab assistant during the year. The club also planned a visit to the Milwaukee Zoological Park and Conservatory and a spring camping trip. Mr. Michael Stevens was the adviser.

C.B. Radio, Stamp and Coin, and Ski Clubs Promoted Diverse Interests

This year the Citizens' Band Radio Club brought a transceiver set with money raised by selling programs at the football games and holding coat checks. Through the use of their set, they helped aid people who were lost by giving them directions. This group was sponsored by Mr. LeRoy Thompson.

The Stamp and Coin Club was a new organization this year. Under the supervision of Mr. Thaddeus Porowski, the club promoted an interest in a hobby consisting of trading stamps and coins and disseminated information about collecting. This activity attempted to encourage students to participate in the adult stamp and coin clubs throughout the country.

The Ski Club members made their first trip of the year to the Wilmot Ski Resort in Wisconsin. For this trip, new policies were in force which allowed non-club members to participate in all the ski trips. However, non-members were charged a two-dollar additional fee. Also, everyone, regardless of experience, was obliged to take a lesson the first time he went skiing.

During the semester break in January, the club sponsored a five-day trip to the Winter Park Ski Resort in Colorado. The members also enjoyed the skiing facilities of the Playboy Club in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin on Lincoln's Birthday. Sponsors of the Ski Club were Mr. Renwick Nicholls and Mr. Allen Babl.

New Pep Squads Formed; Chess Meet Held

Sharon Kreckler, Pat Page, and Mary Lynn Cotten cheered for the wrestlers.

The 1968-69 school year marked the formation of six different pep squads. Members in the Pep Club were specially selected by Mrs. Barbara Farroh, club sponsor, to organize wrestling, swimming, gymnastics, track, cross country, and baseball pep squads. Each of these squads attended its respective athletic events and led the Forest View fans in cheers and aided the officials with scoring.

The entire Pep Club boosted Falcon morale and spirit through their promotion and support of our total athletic program. The girls were responsible for the many posters announcing games in our school and for the decorated hoops that the football and basketball teams tore through at the start of each of their games.

Chess Club meetings were casual and enjoyable. Each week after school, the members would gather for a few friendly games of chess. Any interested students were welcomed to attend any meetings. The high point of the year came for the chess players in February, when they hosted a meet against another club in the District.

Work Programs Prepared Students For Full-Time Employment

Learning comes through experience. Forest View High School students were not obligated to gain all their education in the classroom. Various on-the-job programs were offered to enable the student to gain this practical work experience.

Distributive Education (DE) was offered to juniors and seniors who were interested in retailing, marketing, and working as merchandising agents. Such experiences and opportunities prepared them for full-time employment.

Girls interested in clerical work or other office-related skills were involved in the Office Occupations (OO) phase.

Vocational training opportunities for a specific trade, such as hair dressing, were provided by the Diversified Occupations (DO) program.

Recently added to the variety of work programs was the Cooperative Work Training (CWT) division, which offered students experience in retailing.

These active working situations developed skills that led to successful full-time employment after graduation.

Focus on People

School is PEOPLE . . . diverse personalities in a maze of lights, corridors, and classrooms . . . Each person is an individual. He has his own sense of humor, likes, dislikes, and beliefs. Relationships between students based on these and other characteristics determines special friends with whom experiences can be shared. SDAP and discussion classes, such as sociology, encourage inter-action between students. Social education, primary in all activities, is concerned with human reactions and attitudes, successes and failures. The acceptance of people for themselves reflects and develops maturity. Forest View High School stresses involvement not only in curricular and extra-curricular school events, but, more importantly, involvement with people.

District 214 School Board Proposed Two Referendums

Because the continuing growth of the district will leave 2300 pupils without adequate classroom space by 1971, the District 214 School Board voted to present a bond issue concerning the construction of a new high school. The school would be located on district-owned land on Central Road in Rolling Meadows. A tax increase was also proposed to provide educational and building funds for the school. District residents voted on the referendum on April 12, 1969.

The Board also looked into curricular changes for both individual schools and all schools in the district. These changes either initiated new courses or updated those already being taught. Many other matters, such as permission for a student smoking area on school grounds, were discussed and voted upon at regular board meetings.

FVHS Administration Initiated New Programs

Dr. Lawrence Jenness, Principal, was proud of the new school seal.

During the summer months, the administration evaluated and enlarged the Self-Directed Activity Program to include juniors. In collaboration with the Student Council and the faculty, the Administration initiated a new smoking area in the northeast corner of the north parking lot for students to use during lunch period as well as before and after school. Also, a new organization, the Student Involvement Coordinating Committee (SICC), was developed with administrative aid and approval. During the summer recess, the senior class officers met with Dr. Jenness and department heads to propose a senior lounge in the cafeteria. The administration also instituted the formation of two new committees. The Assembly Committee was organized to improve assemblies and suggest programs. The Principal's Advisory Committee, comprised of teachers, students, and Dr. Jenness, was organized following mid-term examinations. The goal of this committee was to provide an opportunity for student-faculty interaction on problems of mutual interest.

The visitation committee recommendations following the North Central Evaluation in the spring of 1968 were implemented in many areas and resulted in, among other changes, new room dividers for the team-teaching stations on the second floor. Although Forest View High School was working under somewhat adverse conditions created by the sharing of facilities with Harper College, the Administration was able not only to maintain an excellent working relationship with the officials and students of the college but also to provide a relatively unimpaired extracurricular program for Forest View students at the same time.

Many Workers Helped FVHS Function

Mrs. Elaine Hart served a hot meal to these D-lunch students.

"Good morning. Forest View High School," answered Mrs. Reed.

During the four lunch periods each day, the cafeteria help, under the direction of Mrs. Lesmeister, served nourishing meals to the students of Forest View. Each student was able to choose between two different, well-balanced lunches everyday. To provide the Falcons with extra energy, the cafeteria help sold candy and ice cream.

Keeping Forest View clean and in working order was the huge task that the custodial staff performed. The various duties of the custodians included shoveling snow and cleaning our cafeteria, which was used throughout the day for open study as well as for the lunches.

Through their many tasks, Forest View's office secretaries and clerks aided both the faculty and the students. The secretaries and clerks took dictation, typed stencils for the faculty, kept records of schedule changes and books issued, and answered phone calls.

Mr. Matthey re-arranged cafeteria chairs.

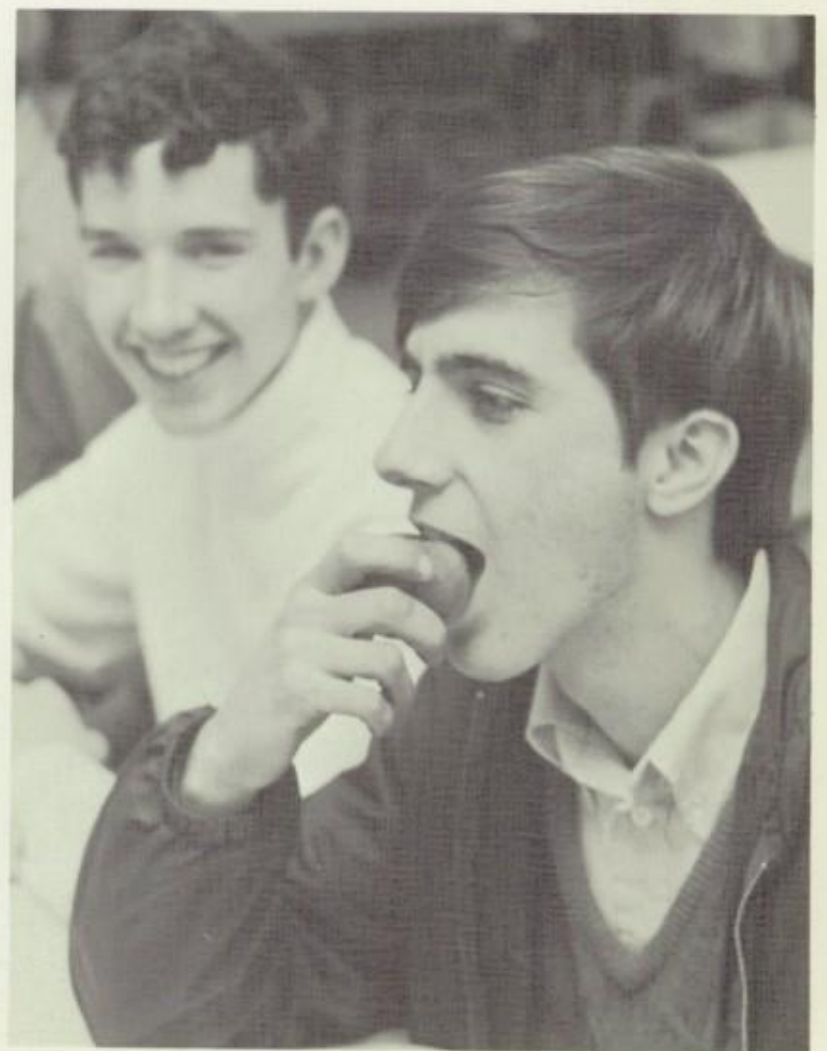

Forest View High School's 1968-69 school year has ended. However, its highlights and disappointments linger in the memories of all. Special school occasions and many personal experiences will be remembered always.

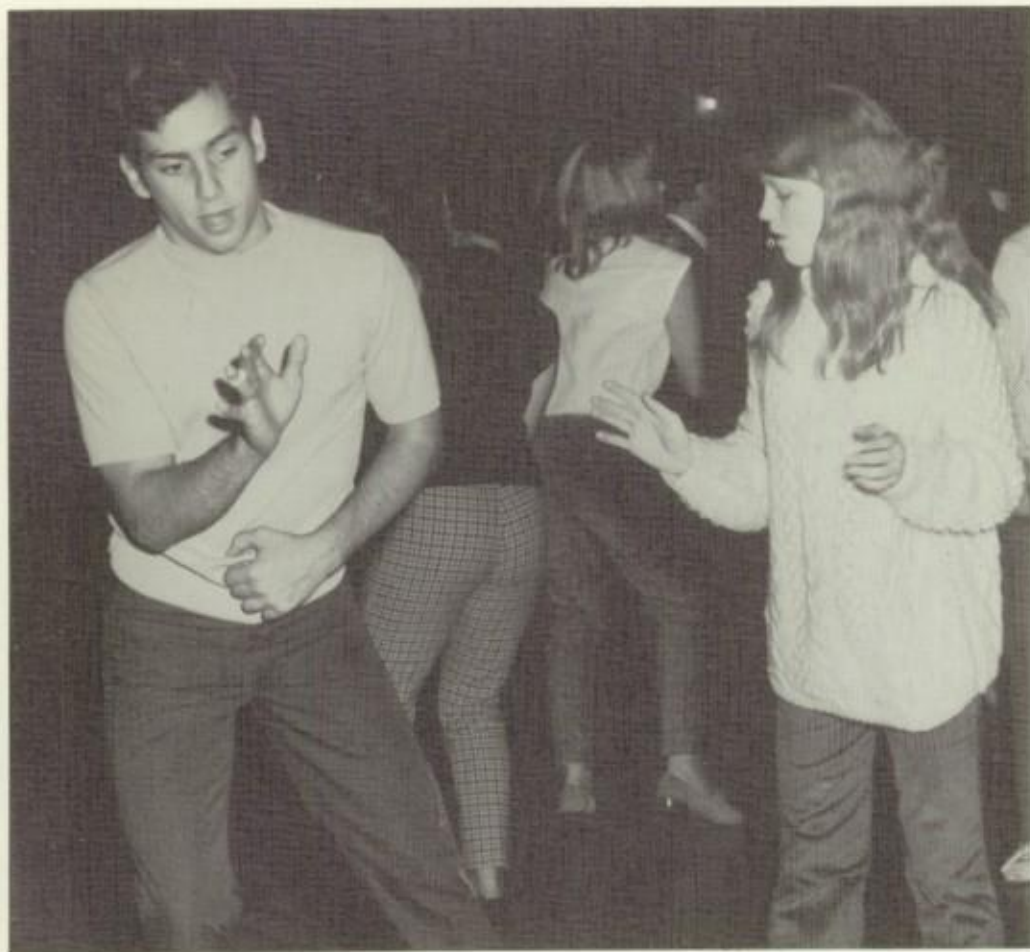

The opportunities which were available have been either employed beneficially, or passed by, only to be recalled in the future. But when they are looked back upon, they will have vanished to enable new vistas of human knowledge to develop and new youth to pursue these challenges.

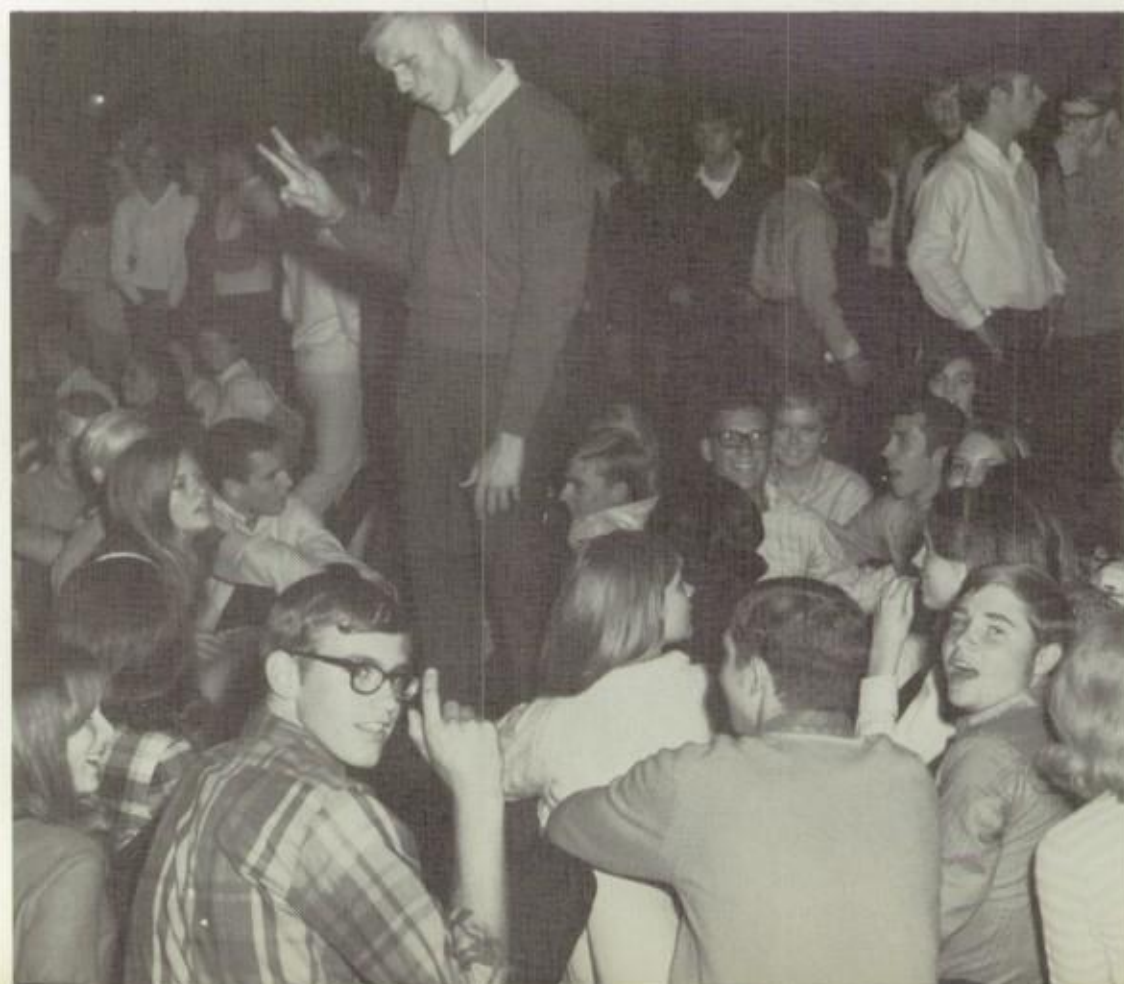

Each Forest View student is provided with an education which ripens both his power for logical thinking and his thirst for knowledge. Pleasure accompanies this learning through participation in school-sponsored activities. Athletic events enrich the student's competitive spirit. Involvement in organizations stresses delegation and acceptance of various duties. Most importantly, the maturity which evolves from a developing personal awareness of social interaction is the greatest task of our educational system.

The ability to create new thought is essential to society's goal of progress. This hope stems from constant achievement at all levels of society.

In the United States there are a vast number of areas into which a student may channel his enthusiasm. It is each student's responsibility to himself to find an individual means to take advantage of the many opportunities afforded him and apply his skill to the construction of a functional, but human, social unit.

In Memoriam Craig Whitehead

Had someone else been
 Looking to that horizon
 The world wouldn't have been Stilled for too long
 —or so we believe.
 His mind searched for a white like the snow on the ground a joy like the carolers' sound a brightness like the lights all around a hope like the greetings he found —or so he desired.
 He was a tall man
 With determination and clothes
 That were never quite Worn by adolescence
 —or so it seemed.
 That ease, that smile, that costume
 Stripped off
 Unmasked a naked child
 Who left his space to another of his kind —or so the world hopes.

R.M. Stelk

Acknowledgments

This book depicts the pleasant aspects of high school life. It is a record of the students at meetings and special events and in classes. We hope we have included those activities of the 1968-69 school year that Forest View students would like to remember.

Although the Talon was assembled by staff members, it could not have developed into the fine book we feel it is without the generous cooperation of all. We would like to give special recognition to the following:

Walsworth Publishing Company for resolving the problems of yearbook production;

Mr. Robert Moorhead, our Walsworth representative, for patiently explaining production details and offering wise suggestions;

Waling Studios, Inc., for their excellent photography and use of special photographic effects;

Photographers from Forest View's Audio-Visual Department for the fine photographs appearing on pages 58, 59, 63, and 84;

Arlene Dul for the cover and end-sheet designs which were made to correspond with our theme;

Durand Cover Company for understanding the complicated directions and creating a beautiful cover;

The Viewer staff's quaint remarks which stirred us to finish the yearbook in spite of them;

All faculty members for allowing the photographers to interrupt their classes to snap academic photographs;

All students for their willingness to pose and react for the photographers;

All Talon staff members for their diligent efforts during seventh and eighth hours and often during vacations;

And especially Mr. Robert Staley, our adviser, for tolerating our frantic last-minute completion of pages to meet those never-ending deadlines.

Chris -

This will take the place of that long note I should have written but didn't.

Just think 1 year left in this hole. I can hardly believe that after June 12 will actually be seniors.

I really like Gary a lot and I'm kinda good with him. John likes Kathi too. Isn't that groovy?

I hope we can double sometime this summer but Spike would have to go way to Waconda to pick Gary up.

I'd write a bunch of remembrances but at the moment I can't remember very many.

Be good, and have a groovy summer with Spike. Have a few for me and always think of me at them parties. Don't do anything I wouldn't do which doesn't leave you much.

Wish me luck with Gary cuz I want to stick with him for a long time to come.
